Russian Admiral, at Vigo, Expresses Regret Over North Sea Incident.

BALTIC FLEET REACHES SPAIN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

VIGO, SPAIN, Oct. 26.—The arrival of the Russian battleships Emperor Alexander III., Borodino, Orel and Kniaz Souvaroff, and the transport Anadul, which have anchored in this port, has caused great excitement. The commander of the port immediately boarded the Russian flagship and informed Admiral Rojestvensky the Spanish government could not permit the warships to coal within the port.

Admiral Rojestvensky replied that his vessels needed repairs, and for that reason he had separated from the remainder of his squadron. The commander of the port promised to inform the Spanish government of the admiral's statement and to communicate the government's reply as soon as it was received.

In spite of this, five German colliers anchored in port alongside the battleships, whereupon the commander of the port sent an aid-de-camp to beg Admiral Rojestvensky not to violate Spanish neutrality. He also ordered the commanding officer of the Spanish cruiser Estramadura to notify the colliers they must obey the port authorities.

Eventually Admiral Rojestvensky promised he would not coal in Spanish waters, at the same time begging the commander of the port to obtain the government's permission for each warship to take 400 tons of coal with which to reach Tangier. Shortly afterward three colliers sailed for Tangier, but two remained alongside the Russian warships.

The North Sea Incident.

During the afternoon Admiral Rojestvensky, accompanied by the commanders of his battleships, visited the military governor, the French consul and the commander of the port, receiving the usual honors.

As far as can be seen the crews of the battleships are very uneasy. Sentinels are closely watching every movement within the harbor. All of the warships seem to be cleared for action.

It is rumored that the object of the Spanish government in requesting the Russians to remain the shortest possible time at Vigo is to prevent the possibility of attack by Japanese agents, whose presence in the province of Galicia is suspected.

Admiral Rojestvensky, who expressed great regret over the North sea incident, said the occurrence was purely accidental.

The weather on the night in question was rather hazy. About 1 a. m. two torpedo boats, which the Russians supposed were Japanese craft, suddenly appeared between the two divisions of the squadron and seemed to discharge torpedoes. The Russians immediately opened fire. They saw no fishermen and were not aware that any damage had been done.

Evidently, the admiral said, the fishermen had shown no lights. The admiral repeated that he greatly regretted that any injury had been done fishermen, and added that he had no doubt the Russian government would make ample compensation.

Prince Keretelli, an officer of the battleship Emperor Alexander III., gave the following explanation of the attack:

Surrounded by Torpedoes.

"The transport Anatoi, which was steaming ahead of the squadron, was suddenly surrounded by eight torpedo boats and requested assistance, whereupon the battleship division advanced and signalled to the unknown vessels to leave or disclose their nationality. The vessels refused to obey, and advanced among the Russian battleships. Suddenly a cannon shot was heard from an unknown vessel. Then the admiral formed in battle line and replied to the fire, afterward continuing his voyage."

Prince Keretelli added that the Russians feared the strange torpedo boats were Japanese, as the admiral was aware that the Japanese had purchased such boats in England.

It is learned that three other Russian warships have anchored in Arosa bay. The government has refused them permission to coal in Spanish waters.

The Spanish warships Marques de la Victoria and Vasco Nunez de Balboa are keeping watch along the coast.

The authorities have ordered that all fishing boats shall fly the national flag in order to avoid a repetition of the Dogger Bank incident.

Cannot Coal in Spain.

MADRID, Oct. 26.—The minister of marine confirms the report of the arrival of a Russian cruiser at Villagarcia. The minister has received a telegram from the authorities at Vigo that two of the Russian battleships now there have sustained damages which will render it impossible for them to leave port within the prescribed 24 hours. The minister will discuss the question with Foreign Minister San Pedro. He declares that he will not authorize the coaling of Russian warships in Spanish ports.

BREST, FRANCE, Oct. 26.—The Russian collier Kniaz Gortschakoff is still anchored in the roadstead awaiting orders. Her commander has been strictly forbidden to communicate with shore or receive visits.

Great Demand for Wire.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Wire nail manufacturers declare the production of wire nails at present is greater than ever before in the history of the country. The mills are producing at the rate of 10,000,000 kegs, or 1,000,000,000 pounds a year. The demand for wire products is also large. Exports of wire products continue on the increase.

HAS TOO MANY CONGRESSMEN

Southern States Will Be Looked Into After the Election.

IS NOT A RACE ISSUE

Representation Is Unequal by Reason of the Disfranchisement of Negroes.

OWN MEDICINE FOR WILLIAMS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 26.

If the next house of representatives is Republican, as now seems certain, one of the most important questions that will be taken up will be the proposed reduction of representation of southern states in congress. The effect of this will be to bring the negro question squarely before the country and permit of its solution in some manner that does not require juggling with the Constitution.

In nearly all of the southern states the negroes have been practically disfranchised. The Democrats have contended the negroes are not fit to vote and that to permit them to gain ascendancy in politics will be to inaugurate a reign of terror in those communities where black outnumber the white population. But while the negro has been denied the privilege of voting, yet the entire colored population has always been counted in the enumeration that fixes the number of representatives in congress. In determining the number of congressmen the southern states shall have the negro is a citizen and entitled to be classed as such, but when it comes to the choosing of these congressmen the negro is barred. The Republican national committee has issued a publication dealing with this question, and which brings out some striking truths in regard to it. This pamphlet, among other things, says:

"It has been asserted that the Republican platform in demanding that representation in congress and in the electoral colleges be reduced in states where the elective franchise has been limited by special discrimination is raising the race question. This is not true. The platform does not touch the race question. The clause in question has to do with a more vital and important matter, the equality of voters. There are states represented on a basis of population in which less than 2 per cent of the population votes, while the average vote in others is from 15 to 25 per cent. Before the war these states were allowed to count three-fifths of their non-voting slave population, now they count the whole of their non-voting free population. Is this equality?

"There is a district in Mississippi in which one-half of 1 per cent of the population votes, in another, only one person in 133 votes and votes for John Sharp Williams who is protesting against government without representation in the Philippines. One vote in Mississippi equals from seven to 25 in any northern state.

"John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader of the house, is much troubled in mind about the rights of the Filipinos who are deprived of proper representation. So long as there are 132 people in his own district who are not voting to one who is, it seems as if the Mississippian might look nearer home. He was elected to the present congress by the total vote in his district, 1,433, and there are 190,885 persons in that district. One in 133 of them voted.

"There is another district in Mississippi represented by Mr. Humphreys, who was also elected without opposition, receiving 1,146 votes out of a population of 232,174. The ratio in his district is 1 to 202. One-half of 1 per cent of its population is Democratic. Perhaps the other 99½ is too, but there is no proof."

SAW PICTURE OF CHRIST PAINTED BY A JEW

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—The novel spectacle of a prince of the Catholic church going to a Methodist Episcopal church to view a painting of Christ executed by a Jew was presented today when Cardinal Gibbons went to Grace church to gaze upon a remarkable picture painted by Max Rosenthal.

The painting, which represents the head of Christ, has created considerable interest and will be one of the features at the convention of the Maryland Sunday school union, which begins tomorrow. After viewing the picture Cardinal Gibbons remarked it was exquisite.

BATTLESHIP ST. LOUIS THREATENED BY FIRE

Firemen Beat Back from New Warship Flames That Sweep Through Her Shipyard.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Fire of mysterious origin swept through the brass foundry and patent shop at the Neafie & Levy shipyard tonight, causing a loss of $30,000. It was only by the valiant work of the firemen that the cruiser St. Louis, which is building on the ways, was saved from destruction.

The St. Louis is almost completed and her launching is scheduled for about December 10. As soon as the flames were discovered the firemen gave their immediate attention to the vessel and deluged with water the buildings lying between the flames and the cruiser. An investigation will be conducted by government officials.

TREASURER CHASE PLACED IN JAIL

Pomeroy (O.) Grand Jury Does Not Believe His Story of Robbery.

EMBEZZLEMENT IS CHARGED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

POMEROY, O., Oct. 26.—The special grand jury which has been investigating the robbery by alleged masked men of the county treasurer's office of $14,500, and of locking Treasurer Thomas J. Chase in the vault September 9, this afternoon indicted Chase, charging him with the embezzlement of that amount. Mr. Chase was arrested in his office and brought into court. His bond was fixed at $10,000, which he was unable to furnish, and he was placed in jail.

The grand jury then resumed its investigation. It is expected that indictments will be reported tomorrow of those who are charged with being confederates.

Chase was found locked in the vault by his daughter, who rushed to a bank and thence to the fair grounds for some one who could open the vault. It was shown to the grand jury that at least half a dozen men were sitting in front of the court house all forenoon on September 9 and that none of these men saw the robbers. Roy Packard, treasurer of Olive township, testified that he saw Chase in his office as he passed and two minutes later returned and found the door locked.

Fred Radford, assistant cashier of the Middleport bank, and A. P. Miller, editor of the Pomeroy Tribune-Telegraph, both of whom had been appointed by the probate court, to make the semi-annual examination of the books, believe the money was taken the previous afternoon.

If Chase is convicted the burden will fall on Chase's 26 individual bondsmen who were accepted for $200,000. As about half of them are said to be insolvent, the others will have about $1,000 each to pay. Chase comes of good family, is 50 years of age, has a wife, two sons and one daughter, the younger son, Guy, being deputy treasurer. Chase is a member of the Methodist church and was never before suspected of wrong-doing.

BOUGHT EVIDENCE FROM SPY.

One of French Officers, Accused of Persecuting Dreyfus, So Testifies at Court-Martial.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—The court-martial of four prominent officers of the war ministry, Cols. Dautrich, Rollin, Francois and Mereschal, charged with using military funds and otherwise influencing witnesses against Dreyfus at Rennes, was resumed today.

Col. Mereschal testified that he and the late Col. Henry paid a spy, whose alias was Austerlitz, sums aggregating about $5,000 for incriminating documents, the last payment being a month before the last trial of Dreyfus.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The concert tour of Mme. Nina David, whose voice, her manager, Robert Grau, had promised would startle New York music lovers, has come to a premature end and the singer departed last night for her home in St. Louis. Mme. David, who is the wife of Henry W. Friedhoff, a wealthy lecturer, sang Friday night in Baltimore, where she strained her throat.

BATTLESHIPS WILL BE BUILT

Expert Opinion Favors the Big Vessels for the United States Navy.

PROGRAM IN NEXT CONGRESS

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The next United States naval building program will include from four to five battleships of the heaviest class combined with the maximum of speed. It is probable that the program will also recommend some small cruisers.

These were the matters discussed at an important meeting of the general naval board today at which were present Mr. Morton, secretary of the navy, and Admiral Dewey, who is chairman of the board. Expert opinion from several foreign naval departments seem to be now that the cruiser is not the better vessel, even though heavily armed for modern battles. The battleships only can carry great guns advantageously and besides be given immense resisting power by heavy armor plates.

The advocates of a large battleship building program will have a great deal of material for the next session of congress to consider from the experts in the American navy.

ATTORNEY W. A. HOGG COMMITS SUICIDE

Shoots Himself While Delirious With Fever—Has Relatives in Pittsburgh.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 26.—William A. Hogg, aged 44, a prominent attorney and business man of Uniontown, shot himself this morning while delirious from typhoid fever and died from the effects of the wound seven hours later. This morning the nurse, who constantly attended him, left the room for a few minutes. Hearing a shot, she rushed to his side and found Mr. Hogg lying on the bed with a wound in his head. Assistance was called at once and strong efforts made to save the man's life, but without success. It is not known where he secured the weapon, but apparently had hidden it in the room. He never regained consciousness.

Mr. Hogg was owner of the Century coke plant, near Brownsville, and leaves a large estate. He is survived by his widow, a daughter of Fred C. Keighley, and two small children. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. John T. Hogg, one brother, James B. Hogg, Republican candidate for county surveyor, and four sisters, Mrs. James Asa Childs of Adelaide, Mrs. Stewart Johnston and Mrs. George W. Bissell of the East End, Pittsburgh, and Miss Elizabeth Hogg, who, with her mother, has been living at the Hotel Kenmawr, in Pittsburgh. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

AMALGAMATED WILL NOT PROSECUTE FRED WOLF

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The employes of the Brown-Bonnell and Valley plants of the Republic Iron and Steel Company have donated their pay for the day of the funeral toward the funeral expenses of Thomas Connelly and Patrick McLaughlin. The Amalgamated men have decided to employ no attorney in prosecuting Fred Wolfe. This decision was reached at Pittsburgh after President Shaffer had returned there.

TROLLEY BILLS PASS FINALLY

Measures Go Through Common Council in Fifteen Minutes.

NO FIGHT IS MADE

Republicans Gave Up Futile Struggle Although They Voted Against Franchises.

MAYOR HAYS MUST DECIDE

Only 15 minutes were required to pass finally the three ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in common council last night. By agreement with the administration leaders the Republicans made no fight, although they voted against all three measures. It was agreed that the Republicans would not further delay the passage of the bills if no other business would be transacted.

The Republicans made this offer because they knew it was futile to prolong the contest. The result sooner or later would be the same and they were anxious to avoid another all-night session. Murry A. Verner gladly assented to this proposition.

President Ward was absent last night and J. J. McKelvey of the Tenth ward was president pro tem. C. C. Kohne placed C. W. Helmold's name in nomination, but only McKelvey's name was voted on.

The first ordinance called up on third reading was that of the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway Company for a loop in Seventh avenue, Grant street and New Grant street. This ordinance was passed finally by a vote of 30 to 12, the members voting as follows:

Ayes—Bailey, Bole, Bright, Collins, Cronmiller, Dengler, Finerty, Frankel, Gibbon, Gulland, Hammer, Helmold, Hogue, Hughes, Kalchthaler, Maslowski, Mathews, Myers, McNally, O'Brien, Pfannkuch, Porter, Scott, Shenkan, Simon, Taylor, Wallace, Walls, Zeuger, McKelvey—30.

Noes—Bergmann, Brand, Girdwood, Johns, Lewis, Kohne, Martin, Milby, Morin, McKnight, Perley, Roneigk—12.

A. G. Roenigk of the Twentieth ward was the only Citizen to vote with the Republicans against the three ordinances. In explaining his vote he said he was in favor of street railways and developing the city by treating capitalists liberally, but he was not in favor of giving away franchises for nothing.

The ordinance for a line from Second avenue to Water street in Grant street and also the ordinance for the line in the Morningside district, East End, followed and were both passed by a vote of 31 to 11. The gain in the affirmative was made by John Lewis changing from no to aye and by J. A. Joyce, who arrived just after the first ballot had been taken. Lewis said he voted for the Second avenue ordinance by mistake, thinking it was the Morningside ordinance, for which he intended to vote because the people in that district wanted the road.

On account of the Hallowe'en celebration next Monday night, council dispensed with the regular meeting and adjourned to meet on Wednesday night. The three traction ordinances and the Duquesne light ordinance are "up to" the mayor for his signature.

FRANCHISE NOT REQUIRED.

Remarkable Statement Made by J. G. Splane, President of Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company.

J. G. Splane, president of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company, made the remarkable statement last night that the passage of the ordinance granting a franchise to the Duquesne Light Company Monday night was unnecessary, and that the Pittsburgh and Allegheny company, under a law enacted by the legislature at the last session, could have leased its conduits to the Duquesne company without the latter company obtaining a franchise from the city.

"Then why did you apply to councils from the franchise?" he was asked.

"Well, in investing money we wanted to be sure about it," was his reply.

"You mean, don't you, that the possession of a franchise would give you something to sell."

"No, we are going into the electric light business and do not intend to sell out," Splane answered.

SUBWAY IS READY.

New York's Great Underground Railroad Will Be Put in Operation This Evening.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Tomorrow night New York's great subway will be formally opened to the public. This was cleaning day. All along the nine miles of the road, where regular traffic will be started tomorrow evening, things were being put in order. The uncompleted stations uptown were swept and polished.

Engineer Parsons, accompanied by his assistant engineers and the officers of the operating company, went over the road today for a final inspection before pronouncing the road officially ready for the opening.

TRAINING VAST ARMY.

According to German Consuls, Who Are Warning Their Government, China Is Active.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—(Special Cable.)—The German government is considerably worried at the reports which come from German consuls in China that, while trying to conceal the fact as much as possible, China is training a great army, and that Chinese gun factories and arsenals are working night and day.

Hundreds of Japanese officers are at work drilling Chinese troops and a number of large factories are being built for the purpose of manufacturing cartridges, guns and other supplies of war which China has hitherto been forced to buy in European countries.

TECH DESIGN IS SELECTED

Palmer & Hornbostel of New York Win the Big Prize.

POST DESIGN SECOND

T. E. Billquist Is Awarded First Place in the Allegheny County Architects' Competition

CARNEGIE APPROVES THE PLAN

"No. 68" was formally selected as the design for the home of the Carnegie technical schools yesterday. The opening of the envelope bearing that number showed that Palmer & Hornbostel, 63 William street, New York, were the authors of the design, and accordingly that firm is awarded the architectural contract for the immense new educational institution to be built here. The firm was notified by telegraph and it is expected that Messrs. Palmer and Hornbostel will come to Pittsburgh this week to discuss with Director Hamerschlag and the "tech" committee further plans for the institution. T. E. Billquist of Pittsburgh won the honors in the Allegheny county architects' competition.

The ending of this competition proved somewhat of a surprise. While Palmer & Hornbostel rank among the leading architects of the United States, it had been rather expected that the most appropriate design would be submitted by one of the five invited architects, in which list the winner was not included. The only one of the invited architects who were even in the first five was George B. Post of New York, who won second honors. The following statement was given out after the meeting of the committee:

The Rank of the Leaders.

"The committee on Carnegie technical schools, at its meeting this afternoon, awarded the prize of the competition to Palmer & Hornbostel of New York, who were appointed architects. Second place in the competition was secured by George B. Post of New York, one of the specially invited competitors. The third, fourth and fifth rank, with an award of $1,000 each, was secured by Wood, Donn & Deming and Corbett & Pell, Washington and New York (associated); Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson, Boston and New York; and Newman & Harris, Philadelphia, Pa. The highest rank among the Allegheny county architects, with an award of $1,000, was secured by T. E. Billquist of Pittsburgh, Pa."

The meeting of the committee yesterday was attended by all of the members except one, Charles L. Taylor, who is at Lakewood, N. J. Those present were Chairman William McConway, Prof. John A. Brashear, W. L. Scaife, James J. Booth and W. N. Frew.

William McConway, chairman of the "tech" committee, said yesterday that parts of design No. 68, which won the award, had been shown to Andrew Carnegie during Mr. McConway's conference with him in New York Monday and Mr. Carnegie approved the plans.

"Mr. Carnegie said that we cannot start the work on these schools too soon," said Mr. McConway. "He is greatly interested in all that pertains to the schools and is in touch with all the developments in their progress.

Wants Growth to Be Natural.

"His only fear is that there shall be an attempt to make the schools too great at the start. He has a horror of empty space in such an institution and prefers to let the schools grow in a natural way, and by their own pressure indicate the lines along which they should be extended and enlarged.

"The plans provide for schools sufficient to accommodate 4,000 students, but it is, of course, not expected that a year from now, when the first departments open, we shall have capacity for that number. It would be impossible, for one thing, to organize the courses of instruction and secure the right teachers for such a number. The growth of the schools to such size as may be demanded will be a steady one, I expect."

Director Arthur Hamerschlag of the technical schools is greatly pleased with the successful outcome of the competition and the choice of the design. The ending of this feature of the preparation for the work of the schools makes it possible for construction to start shortly. Mr. Hamerschlag has had prepared exact calculations on floor spaces for the class rooms, work shops, etc., and when the architects come here will be able to promptly give them the data by which the detailed plans can be made and specifications for contractors drawn up. It is Mr. Hamerschlag's hope that much can be done this winter on the construction work.

Prof. Laird Describes Design.

Prof. Warren B. Laird, head of the department of architecture of the University of Pennsylvania, who was the advisory architect of the committee throughout this work of selecting an architect, left for Philadelphia last evening. He is well pleased with the outcome and the design which the committee approved was the one which he favored as the best for the schools.

"The decision of the committee officially terminates my work in connection with the Carnegie Technical schools, but I shall not lose my interest in the great work to be done here," he said. "All my relations have been most happy.

"As an architectural competition, judged by its results as well as by the mechanism of procedure, it has been one of the most successful ever held in this country. The competitors included an unusually large number of men of the highest ability and proved professional capacity. The designs were, with the exception of perhaps three or four, of real merit, and that is an unusually high proportion. Among the plans was a large proportion of very strong designs. Therefore the design which I selected and which the committee has adopted was chosen from among a group of exclusively high-grade projects.

"This design assures first of all a practicable scheme for the technical schools. It is in every way worthy of the fine position it is to occupy opposite Schenley park and in the neighborhood of the enlarged Carnegie Institute.

Three Great Courts Planned.

"In this design the buildings are grouped about three great courts which open into one another and are of dimensions running into some hundreds of feet, not less than 200 by 600.

"About the principal court will be grouped the administration buildings and the superintendents' offices of two of the four schools. At the end opposite the main entrance will be placed the School of Applied Design, so situated as to give a very fine effect to its especially artistic character.

"Close by the administration building are the headquarters of the remaining school, that for women, its building enclosing one of the secondary courts. This insures a certain separate life and privacy for women students. The group lies at that end of the plot nearest the residence section.

"The remaining court extends westerly from the central space and is surrounded on its three closed sides by the buildings of the School of Applied Science and the School for Apprentices and Journeymen. These lie toward the valley and railroad, fronting on Woodlawn avenue. The power house is located on the lower level, between the railroad and the shop schools.

"The buildings are treated with a simple yet effective use of brick and terra cotta. They are so designed and massed as to be beautiful, while expressing, each in its own way, the purpose for which it is intended. The architect has been very successful in securing to the highest degree practical efficiency in his plans without sacrifice of that character which is usually called the artistic."

Architects Have Done Big Work.

Palmer & Hornbostel, the winning architects, have practiced for 10 years in New York city. Their work has been of a widely varied character, extending from great bridges to private mansions. It has included court houses, club houses and other buildings of a semi-public character.

This firm has been the consulting architects for bridges across the East river, New York, and are architects for the proposed Municipal Tower building in New York. Prior to individual practice they were under F. Withers, architect, as general superintendents of all city work on Blackwell's island, comprising hospitals, prisons, power houses, etc., in 1888, 1889 and 1890.

Henry Hornbostel of this firm is a graduate of the department of architecture in Columbia university and was later a prize man at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris. He completed also four courses of instruction at the New York Trade school. During the past few years he has been instructor in architectural design at Columbia university.

May Be Worth $250,000.

The largest work most closely resembling the present task in which Palmer & Hornbostel have been competitors was that for the University of California. In this competition they were second prize winners and outranked all other American architects. That competition is the only other one in American educational history that ranks with the present Carnegie Technical schools in scope and importance.

Although it is known that the award in this competition is a rich prize, it is impossible to say now just how great it is. No definite estimates of the cost of the buildings have been made, but $5,000,000 has been an amount often mentioned as the ultimate cost of the entire completed group. The architect's commission mentioned in the program for the competition is "that usually paid," which is 5 per cent. If $5,000,000 were an approximate figure, this would mean a fee of $250,000.

PLEASED WITH THIRD PLACE.

Wood, Donn & Deming of Washington Have Designed Some Important Buildings.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The firm of Wood, Donn & Deming of this city, who were third in the competition for architects of the Carnegie Technical school, are young men who have gained considerable local reputation. They were associated with Corbett & Bell of Washington in the competition and are pleased to have won third place in so important a contest. They received the news of the award through The Gazette.

Wood, Donn & Deming built the McKinley Manual Training school here, their plans winning in open competition. They also built the Providence hospital and the Chinese legation. They are architects for a magnificent home which Gen. Charles L. Fitzhugh of Pittsburgh is building here and which will be ready for occupancy by Christmas.

CURTAIN RAISER WAS A REVIVAL MEETING

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—At a rag-time concert hall last night, just as a bevy of soubrettes in abbreviated skirts and painted faces had settled themselves on the stage for their curtain-raiser, the audience was amazed by the sudden and unannounced appearance on the stage of a dozen disciples of God's Bible school, a local religious colony. With the permission of the proprietor they held the stage for an hour singing and exhorting the crowd to seek salvation.

RUSSIA WILL PURCHASE VESSEL SHE CAPTURED

TACOMA, WASH., Oct. 26.—It is current talk in well informed shipping circles that negotiations are on between the Russian government and Alfred Holt & Co. of Liverpool for the purchase of the steamer Calchas, which the Russians captured on the way to Japan, and took as a prize to Vladivostok. It is understood that the price to be paid is three-quarters of a million dollars, which will be ample to cover all the damage incurred in the seizure of the vessel.

CZAR'S REPLY WILL NOT DO

Note to British Government Says Nothing About Punishing the Guilty.

NAVY IS GETTING ACTIVE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Russian reply to Great Britain's note on the subject of the North sea tragedy, has been received by the British government. It expresses deep regret at the occurrence and promises full reparation so soon as an official report is received from Vice Admiral Rojestvensky.

The reply was received by Ambassador Kenkendorff during the night and was forwarded to Foreign Secretary Lansdowne in the shape of a formal letter, in which the ambassador, waiting on cabled instructions from St. Petersburg, gave the above assurance, adding that while the Russian government at the time of cabling was still without official knowledge from its own sources of the occurrence in the North sea, it feels so certain it was an error that it wishes at once to express its regret, and assures the British government that full compensation will be made, as soon as the details are received.

Foreign Secretary Lansdowne considers that Russian's reply in its present form is incomplete, especially in the failure to grant Great Britain's demand for the punishment in principle of such officers as might be found responsible. Lord Lansdowne said late this afternoon, however, that he trusted the matter would be settled within 24 hours.

Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, left London late tonight for Portsmouth, to give his personal attention to naval preparations there.

It is now quite evident that only a short time will be allowed Russia in which to give final and complete assurances of her intention to comply with any and all demands Great Britain may make within reason. The arrival of Admiral Rojestvensky at Vigo, and the certainty that he is in direct communication with his government, removes at once the possibility of any delay on account of the inability of Russia to get his side of the occurrences of the night of October 21. With this official version before the Russian government, together with the official statement of the members of the fishing fleet, it is unlikely that the British public or the British government will allow another 24 hours to pass quietly without receiving a satisfactory reply to the note, which demanded a quick answer.

Hitherto there has been no indication that a time limit had been set by Great Britain for Russia's reply to her demands, but the fact that three battleships and three cruisers are under orders for the morning of October 28, is construed in some quarters to mean that Great Britain will not wait longer than that date before unleashing her sea dogs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 26.—It is asserted on high authority that Emperor Nicholas this afternoon received Admiral Rojestvensky's report.

Ambassador Hardinge has sent another note to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, expressing his opinion that the measures reported to have been taken by the Russian admiralty to communicate with Admiral Rojestvensky were entirely inadequate.

An official of the admiralty stated at 1:30 o'clock this morning that no word had yet been received from Admiral Rojestvensky.

TO SHADOW RUSSIANS.

Britain's Gibraltar Squadron Receives Orders to Hold Itself in Readiness for Sailing.

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 26.—The battleships Victorious, Illustrious and Majestic, flagship of Vice Admiral Beresford, and the cruisers Lancaster, Theseus and Endymion, are under orders to sail October 28. It is reported the purpose is to shadow the Russian Baltic squadron which is expected to go by way of the Cape of Good Hope. The Russian Baltic squadron cruisers and torpedo boats are expected to pass through the straits of Gibraltar on the way to Suez. The whole of the Gibraltar torpedo flotilla has been commissioned.

The ships of the channel fleet have filled their bunkers with coal and replenished their ammunition and other stores, and will be ready for sea at a moment's notice. The battleship Hannibal and the cruiser Doris are watching the straits closely. The admiralty is making inquiries concerning the coal available here.

ARE ALWAYS IN TOUCH.

British Warships Are Connected With the Admiralty by System of Wireless Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—"Whether one of Great Britain's warships is in the Pacific or the Mediterranean, the British admiralty can communicate with it any moment," said Signor Marconi today. He is a guest at the Italian embassy.

"Eighty of the British warships, including all of the principal vessels of the home, the Mediterranean and the channel fleets, are equipped with my long distance wireless apparatus, and are constantly within reach of the British admiralty. A long distance wireless communication between England and Gibraltar has been in uninterrupted service for many months."

LONE TREE NO MORE.

Object Which Gave Name to Famous Battle Is Cut Down for Fire Wood.

MUKDEN, Oct. 26.—The appointment of Gen. Kuropatkin as commander-in-chief was received with universal approval. It will greatly facilitate the military operations. A Japanese attack is now expected shortly. The Russian batteries continue to harass the Japanese.

The Japanese dead recently found showed by their warm clothing that the Japanese are prepared for a winter campaign, whereas the Russians have not received their winter outfits.

The tree which gave its name to Lone Tree Hill has disappeared. It was cut down Monday night for firewood.

FRANCE AN RUSSIA DECLINE INVITATION OF ROOSEVELT

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 26.—(Copyright Cable.)—The reply of France and Russia to President Roosevelt's invitation to a peace conference is a categorical refusal. Here the proposed conference is said to be a mere election dodge, lacking seriousness.

RUSHING OUT IRON ORE.

Activity in the Steel Trade Has Stimulated the Movement of Raw Material.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The iron ore sent down from the head of the lakes this month will be in excess of 4,000,000 tons. In October, 1903, the ore shipments aggregated 3,000,857 tons.

Efforts are being made to get out all the ore possible before the end of the season. The activity is due to the improvement in the iron and steel trade and the certainty that consumption of ore in the winter must necessarily be much larger than planned for at the opening of the ore season.

Pittsburgh Man Shot.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—C. W. Evans of Pittsburgh, while hunting in the vicinity of Mt. Dallas, Pa., on Saturday last was accidentally shot by a son of Adam Beegle. The shot tore a hole in Mr. Evans' left side. He will live.

Preparing for Four-Track System.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company yesterday began tearing down a number of frame dwellings along Baltimore avenue, Rankin, along its right-of-way between old City Farm station and Rankin station. There are about 28 houses, all bought by the company during the past summer, and the ground they occupy will be devoted to the extensive four-track system between Glenwood and Rankin.

BRITAIN WILL INSIST ON PUNITIVE DEMAND

Nothing Short of Punishment of Guilty Officers Will Satisfy.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The whole situation in the crisis precipitated by the sinking of the Hull trawlers by Russian warships, hinges on the question whether Russian will give satisfactory assurance that her naval officers who are to blame for the outrage, shall be promptly and sufficiently punished. Nothing short of this will satisfy Great Britain.

When it became known today that the Russian reply had ignored the question of punishment, public feeling became as inflamed as it previously was. The news that the marquis of Lansdowne had promptly informed the government at St. Petersburg that he regarded the reply as incomplete and unsatisfactory, insisting on a complete and specific recognition of the principle of punishment, put the nation thoroughly in sympathy with his position. The Balfour government is now more popular than it has been since Chamberlain sprung his fiscal reform ideas.

The promptness with which the admiralty acted also has been most gratifying to the nation. Rojestvensky's fleet is in or about the harbor of Vigo, Spain. Immediately below him is the powerful channel squadron, under Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, while coming up with all proper speed, is Sir Compton Domville, with the Mediterannean squadron. The home squadron, under Sir Arthur Wilson, is on its way south. At Portsmouth is the cruiser squadron, consisting of seven of the most powerful armored cruisers afloat. Thus, Rojestvensky is encircled by a line of British warships through which it would be impossible for him to break at any point.

SMITH BLAMES JESUITS FOR THE DREYFUSS WOES

Former Correspondent Says They Did Not Want a Jew on French Army's General Staff.

"Inside Facts of the Dreyfus Case" was the title of a lecture delivered last night in the Eighth Street temple by Adolph Smith, who was correspondent of the London Times at the trial of Capt. Dreyfus in Rennes, and who was a delegate to the recent international peace conference in Boston.

The lecturer said that the Jesuits were the malfspring of the "conspiracy" against Dreyfus. The Jesuits succeeded in making education at their schools three times as cheap as the state school of France could afford to give it, so that the children of "free thinkers and all other people" were educated for economical reasons at schools maintained by the Jesuits and other religious orders, even though the parents of those children were opposed to the Jesuits. The father confessor of a pupil at the Jesuit schools, Mr. Smith said, knew his penitent in and out, knew all his strength and his weaknesses; after the pupil left the Jesuit schools an analysis of his character was forwarded to his next father confessor; he was helped in business, everything that might be conducive to his material prosperity was done. "Even a wife is found for him," asserted Mr. Smith.

All the members of the first Dreyfus court-martial had been pupils of the Jesuits or Jesuits were confessors of their wives, said the lecturer. From their standpoint it would not do to have a Jew on the general staff for later Protestants might force their way in, and then, in case the government proposed a law that the Jesuits did not like, the Jew and the Protestants might refuse to give the government a hint that the army could not be depended upon, that, according to Mr. Smith, being a method adopted successfully by the "Jesuitical" general staff to intimidate the government. Hence arose, Mr. Smith maintained, a clerical conspiracy to convict Dreyfus at all hazards and, when he was convicted, attempts to kill him, to cause his fetters to create blood poisoning, or to induce him to commit suicide, were made.

The attempt of Paul Deroulede to induce Gen. Roget at the funeral of President Felix Faure to march against President Loubet and hurl him from his seat, was considered in America and Europe as an open bouffe affair, but Mr. Smith gravely said there actually was a conspiracy, but that Roget's nerve failed him, chiefly because the socialistic city council of Paris had armed the city firemen to oppose the troops. The Jesuits, Mr. Smith said, tried to destroy the republic; the socialists saved it.

ENGAND PREPARES TO ENFORCE HER DEMANDS

Russia Given Until Noon to Comply. Otherwise Channel Fleet Will Act.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The Mail says: The situation arising from the Baltic outrage has become one of much gravity. The Russian government is willing to make apology and pay indemnity, but regarding the other two British demands—the punishment of the responsible officers and a guarantee of future security—the influential war party at St. Petersburg refuses the desired concession.

The British government is resolved not to give way and it is understood has notified Russia that acquiescence must be forthcoming Thursday afternoon. Failing in this, the channel fleet will be instructed to ask the Baltic fleet to return. Should the Russian admiral refuse it is expected the British admiral will be obliged to compel it.

The British government is confident that whatever action it may take, France will not consent to be embroiled.

PEACE COMING TO BETHEL.

Turbulent Waters of Dissension Are Being Quieted Down.

Peace is likely to be the solution of the troubles which have disturbed the congregation of Bethel A. M. E. church, Wylie avenue and Elm street. The coming of Bishop H. M. Turner has had a quieting effect and the people feel satisfied that good will come out of it all.

There was a meeting of the congregation last evening in the church which filled every seat and left standing room at a premium. Previous to the meeting there was a wedding. Miss Anna Marie Carter became the wife of Sylvester J. Jones. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. I. S. Lee.

Immediately after the ceremony the congregational meeting was held. Bishop W. P. Derrick was to have been present, but sent word he was ill. Bishop Turner therefore postponed any action until Friday evening. None but members of the church will be admitted to this meeting. The meeting adjourned after a general discourse by the bishop on almost every subject but the trouble which has occasioned his coming here.

GAYLEY EXPLAINS HIS NEW PROCESS

CARNEGIE RESPONDS TO TOAST

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Oct. 26.

Members of the Iron and Steel Institute who are attending the American meeting gathered in the ball room of the Hotel Astor this morning and again this afternoon to listen to the reading of papers by various members of the institute.

Andrew Carnegie, president, presided, and announced his successor as next president of the institute would be Robert Abbott Hadfield of Park Head House, Sheffield, England. Mr. Carnegie read a letter from Mr. Hadfield expressing his regret at having been unable to attend the American meeting, and thanking the members for their choice of him for president.

James Gayley, president of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and connected with the Steel Corporation, read and discussed the first paper, dealing with "The Application of Dry Air Blast to the Manufacture of Iron." The paper caused the general opinion that the use of the method described by Mr. Gayley in the manufacture of iron would bring about vast improvements.

Briefly stated, the Gayley process is a modification of the Bessemer process. By it he believes the cost of pig iron will be reduced $1 a ton. It will also increase the output 25 per cent and will decrease the fuel consumption in manufacture 20 per cent.

The New York session was closed tonight with a dinner at the Waldorf. Mr. Carnegie was called upon at dinner for a toast, and in responding said that members of the institute were stars of the first magnitude in happy suggestive conjunction in that they had as patrons both King Edward and President Roosevelt.

King Edward, he said, waged peace wherever he went, and overcome the differences of his friends, while enemies he had none. President Roosevelt, he said, did one of the greatest public services of our day in calling the peace conferences.

"Therefore, gentlemen," he continued, "in both rulers we have apostles of peace, from whom further service may be expected, in the first, highest and noblest of all causes, that of purging the earth of its foulest stain, the killing of human beings by human beings like wild beasts.

"Gentlemen, I give you the combined toast, 'To the rulers of the English-speaking race; hailing them as potent apostles of peace.'"

In offering the toast of "The Iron and Steel Institute," W. R. Raymond paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Carnegie, "whose merits and achievements have just been recognized by the conferment of the Bessemer gold medal, to my mind one of the greatest distinctions which human hands can place upon the human breast."

PUT FOUR SHOTS IN HEAD.

Polish Tailor Had His Photograph Taken and Then Committed Suicide.

Ignacy Galic, a Polish tailor of 2713 Penn avenue, had his photograph taken yesterday morning at 2737 Penn avenue and then returned to his room and fired four bullets through his head. He was despondent over a love affair, his sweetheart having been recently married.

"Make the pictures good, for they will be my last," he said to the photographer.

He returned to his home and paid his sister-in-law, Mrs. Julia Galic, $90 he owed for board. When he retired to his room the woman heard four shots, and entering, found him dead. He was 27 years old.

An unknown man was killed by a train on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad at McKees Rocks last night. He was about 25 years old. Another man, who is unknown, was run down by a train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Keating station yesterday afternoon. He was about 35 years.

Frank Morris, aged 40, a coal miner, was killed by a train on the Panhandle railroad at Hazeltine station at noon yesterday.

D. M. John, aged 45, dropped dead in the Star hotel at Grant street and Seventh avenue yesterday afternoon from heart disease.

The inquest was held yesterday into the death of Peter Fitzwilliams, who shot Mrs. Sarah Walters and then killed himself Monday night in Frazier street, and the jury rendered a verdict of suicide and murder. It was proved that jealousy was the motive for the shooting. The body of the dead woman will be buried by her brother.

David Griffiths, aged 28, of Homestead, died at the Mercy hospital last night from injuries received at the Homestead Steel works yesterday afternoon. He was crushed between two metal buggies.

FINANCIERS REST EASY.

President's Election So Sure They Did Not Organize Club This Campaign.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—This is the first presidential campaign since 1884 that there has been no disposition shown in the financial district, generally described as Wall street, to organize a political campaign club.

Some of the members of the stock exchange who were most active in organizing the Cleveland, Blaine and Harrison clubs and the Sound Money clubs of the two Bryan campaigns have been asked why no efforts were made to organize the Roosevelt forces and the Parker forces in Wall street. Invariably the answer has been: "What's the use? Roosevelt is sure to be elected."

DRUGGISTS ARE ACCUSED.

Minnick, 1410 Monterey street; Kennedy & White, Irwin and Western avenues; Steigleder & Kulschler, Buena Vista and Jackson streets; Edward F. WAR SPIRIT PERVADES PRESS OF ENGLAND

Madrid Papers Comment Severely on Russian Attempts to Defy Spain.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The tone of comparative moderation and calmness hitherto shown by the press of London is observed to be yielding to one of an outspoken bellicose nature. The Daily Mail editorially speaks of war threatening, and gives in scare headlines "Ultimatum to Russia expires this afternoon."

Without going to these lengths nearly all the papers are discussing the possibilities of war. The unofficial explanation of Admiral Rojestvensky, telegraphed from Vigo, is stigmatized by the Morning Post and other papers as apparently that of a lunatic whose continuance in a position of responsibility is a menace to every vessel that navigates the sea. The Daily Telegraph, representing the government view, says:

"There is no doubt whatever of the government's seriousness. No responsible ministers would order a fleet athwart the path of vessels of a foreign power without recognizing the responsibility of such a grave step; yet this is what his majesty's government has done with its eyes wide open."

An equally bellicose tone characterizes the British correspondents' dispatches from St. Petersburg, which openly impute the Russian delay to the belief that Great Britain is determined not to risk war, and express the conviction that the Russian government is determined not to punish the offending officers.

Madrid dispatches comment severely upon the attempt of the Russians at Vigo to defy the Spanish government by the pretense that their vessels have been damaged, and by proceeding to coal from German steamers; also on Admiral Rojestvensky's alleged explanation that firing on an approaching vessel was necessary for the protection of his squadron.

Lord Rosebery, in sending a check for $500 for the sufferers, describes the North sea affair as an "unspeakable outrage."

DETECTIVE M'BETH SUPPORTS CHARGE

Issues Statement Regarding Accusation of Higbee—Republican Ox Roast Is Held.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 26.—County Detective Alexander McBeth, supports his charge against E. C. Higbee of Connellsville, Democratic candidate for district attorney, by a published statement today, saying:

"Regarding the statement to the effect that I was offered $100 in the office of the Colonial theater, Connellsville, on the night that Mrs. Kate Soffel was billed to appear in the play 'A Daring Woman,' I desire to say that the facts stated in the article published yesterday are true and correct. The money was displayed to me and E. C. Higbee insisted repeatedly that I take the money and allow the show to proceed. If necessary, I will make an affidavit telling in detail the circumstances of this transaction and prove by an interested party, the entire story."

E. C. Higbee absolutely denies the charge.

JOHNETTA, Oct. 26.—A big Republican meeting and ox roast was held here today. Persons attended from Kittanning, Leechburg, Freeport and other towns. The Hon. D. B. Heiner presided. Addresses were made by J. D. Daugherty, S. B. Cochrane, John H. Jones, J. H. Vichestain, Frank W. Jackson, Maj. J. G. Beale and others.

GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE GOOD COFFEE

The Agricultural Department to Make Tests to Eliminate the Poison.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The agricultural department, having experimented freely with certain alleged "poison" food classes of young men to determine the poisonous ingredients in food, has now turned its attention to brewing coffee. E. F. Leighton has been detailed by the department to find out precisely how to make the best coffee and to report to the department.

It is understood Mr. Leighton will discover a process to neutralize certain acids which give the beverage a bitter taste and that the officially-made coffee will be perfect.

Since the agitation about poisoned whisky has arisen the department has received thousands of letters asking for advice on determining whether whisky is good or not before drinking it. Dr. Wiley, the chief chemist, received among many letters one from Gen. Lew Wallace, asking the doctor's advice on how and where to find the best rye whisky.

FRIEND OF HELEN GOULD COMMITTED SUICIDE

Financial Reverses and Ill Health Cause a Woman to Kill Herself in New York.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Friend and protege of Helen Gould and of aristocratic southern family, but so reduced in circumstances that life became unbearable, Mary Worth Bagley, 45 years old, committed suicide today in a room which she occupied at 219 West Twenty-first street.

When her family met with financial reverses she accepted a position as a teacher and interested herself in mission work. Being highly educated and refined, she attracted the attention of Miss Gould, who met her in her mission duties, and the two women became fast friends. The woman's health failed her and she was ill for some time.

WHAT MAKES PITTSBURGH GREAT?

It's the Brains and Enterprise of Her Business Men.

A TYPICAL EXAMPLE.

No one need look far to discover the source of Pittsburgh's greatness. It's the brains and enterprise of her business men that have placed the Smoky City in the forefront of the world's great industrial centers.

A typical example of progressiveness is found in THE S. HAMILTON CO., the well-known dealers in pianos and other musical merchandise. Not only is this the oldest music house in Pittsburgh, but it is the only music house that is a member of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, whose recent tours through the territory adjacent to Pittsburgh have been the subject of so much newspaper publicity.

A few months ago Hamilton's removed from their old building in Fifth avenue to the present more modern and commodious establishment in Wood street, known as Hamilton Hall. It is undoubtedly the finest temple of music in this part of the country, and in point of fact, there is none anywhere that excels it in the advantages which it offers customers.

The house of Hamilton has been established so long, and is so favorably known, that to mention any article in the line of musical merchandise is to think at once of Hamilton's. The association is irresistible.

Visitors invariably find it pleasant to go through the various departments of this large establishment, which occupies Nos. 531 and 533 Wood street, right in the heart of the business district of Pittsburgh.

TROLLEY ROUTES ARE ABANDONED

Railway Company Forfeits Many Miles in Allegheny, and Can Do Same Here.

ONE GRANT MAY BE ILLEGAL

By failing to comply with the provisions of the ordinances granting franchises over various streets in Allegheny to the Mellons, passed in 1901, the Pittsburgh Railways Company has forfeited these rights and sacrificed traction privileges on many miles of public thoroughfares on the North Side. After a most remarkable battle to defeat the passage of the franchise bills, which were approved in August, 1901, the Pittsburgh Railways Company bought these rights of way from the Mellons.

The abandonment of the Mellon lines in Allegheny illustrates what might happen in Pittsburgh with the franchises now being asked for by the Pittsburgh Railways Company for the downtown loops in Seventh avenue, Grant street and New Grant street. The ordinances specify the company shall have the right to abandon the lines, or any part of them, in two years and the Republican minority in common council made a stubborn fight against this provision.

The minority contends, and no arguments or evidence has been advanced to refute this contention, that the company does not intend to build these loops, but that they are intended solely to shut out any other traction company entering the downtown district during the next two years, after which the company will be so fortified that it need never fear competition.

Franchises Have Expired.

The Mellon ordinances were nine in number and provided for the laying of tracks and the operation of street car lines on streets in every part of Allegheny city. Prior to that time the United Traction Company, a constituent of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, had no position in Allegheny. Each of these ordinances had embodied in it the proviso that in the event of the failure of the corporation to have its lines completed within two years after the passage of the bills, the franchise would be null. The following was part of each of the nine ordinances:

The construction of the railway provided for in this ordinance shall be begun within one year from the approval of this ordinance, and shall be completed within two years from that time.

This would establish as the date of the expiration of the effectiveness of the ordinances, August 15, 1903. On five ordinances an extension of three years was given a year ago last August by Allegheny councils. Advantage has been taken of parts of the other franchises by the construction of lines over certain streets named in other ordinances. The names by which the various traction corporations, organized by the Mellons, were known, are as follows:

Line Delayed Three Years.

In the spring of last year the Pittsburgh Railways Company began making preparations to lay tracks on the streets named in the franchise granted to the last mentioned company. A vigorous protest from property owners along Stockton and Ridge avenues, and Chartiers streets, resulted in a stay of operations. Councils took the matter up and granted the company an extension of three years on this franchise, making it valid until August 15, 1906. In return for this concession, the Pittsburgh Railways Company agreed not to lay tracks along the streets specified in the ordinance until within a reasonable time before the last mentioned date.

No use has been made of the franchises given the City View, Allegheny Hill Top, Benton Avenue and East Street and Evergreen Street Railway Companies. In August of last year councils granted an extension of three years' time on the franchises granted the Cedar Avenue, Ridge Avenue and Chartiers, North Side & South Side, and the Superior & Shady Avenue companies. The construction of parts of these lines, it was explained at the time, was contingent upon the completion of the new Shady avenue bridge spanning the Woods Run hollow, between California avenue and the Brighton road. This bridge was finished recently and the Pittsburgh Railways Company has laid its lines through from California avenue, out Superior avenue to the southern end of the bridge, and from the northern end to the line now operating on the Brighton road.

Part of One Line Built.

The manner in which the franchise granted the Howard & East Street Railway Company was treated by the Pittsburgh Railways Company presents a legal problem that has been given no solution as yet. The company is operating more than six miles of track over a number of streets given the Mellons by councils, while other streets have never been touched, and the grants on these latter thoroughfares have, so it is contended by many, been forfeited by default. The ordinance giving the Mellons the franchise stipulated that lines must be finished within two years after August 15, 1901, on the following streets:

Beginning at a point in Perrysville avenue on the northern boundary line of said city; thence along Perrysville avenue to East street; thence along East street to Elmira street; thence along Elmira street to Howard street; thence along Howard street to North avenue; thence along North avenue to Middle street, to the intersection thereof with Third street, and thence returning over the same route, with double tracks, or by single track, etc.

Shortly after the East street boulevard was laid, from a point near Royal street to the intersection of East street and Perrysville avenue, the Pittsburgh Railways Company tore up the new asphalt thoroughfare and laid double tracks from the end of its existing line at Royal street out to Perrysville avenue, and from the intersection of East street out Perrysville avenue to the city line. This much of the franchise they have made use of, while the remainder of it has been allowed to die. There are no tracks in Elmira, Howard, Middle or Third streets, and yet it is a provision of the ordinance that the franchise shall become invalid unless all lines named in the ordinance are completed before August 15, 1903.

Legality of Franchise in Doubt.

The question is now raised regarding the legality of operating street cars from the city limits, at Perrysville avenue and down East street to Elmira street. Charles F. Kirschler, chairman of the finance committee of Allegheny councils, is of the opinion that the Pittsburgh Railways Company, in failing to adhere strictly to every provision of the Howard and East street franchise, has permitted the entire ordinance to perish and that the present operation of street cars in East street, beyond Royal, and in Perrysville avenue, from the intersection of East street, is illegal and without authority of councils. Mr. Kirschler says:

This matter was never before brought to my attention, but after reading the ordinance granting rights of way to the Howard and East Street Railway Company, I cannot see by what authority the Pittsburgh Railways Company is operating lines in East street and in Perrysville avenue, under the franchise granted the Mellons. They have taken advantage of but part of the ordinance and have made no effort to construct lines in other streets given them on condition that the lines in all streets in the franchise be completed before August 15, 1903. From the construction I put on the reading of the ordinance they allowed the entire franchise to go by default by not fulfilling all the provisions of the ordinance.

This Man Believes in Signs.

Sam F. Sipe, the diamond importer, has placed a fine brass sign on each side of the entrance to the Schmidt building, 339 Fifth avenue.

The Natural Body Covering

It is pretty generally recognized to-day that wool is the Natural body covering for mankind as for the animal world. The reason many people prefer admittedly unnatural cotton and linen undergarments is because the ordinary woolen ones are correct in material only—in them the hygienic principles of the sheep's fleecy coat are not carried out. The preference is all for wool, however, among those who have once worn the genuine Fleece of Comfort.

WRIGHT'S Health Underwear

the only underwear that is made right, and that feels right, when first, as when last worn. The difference lies in its construction. Both the fleece and the outer fabric are built up entirely of loops. That is why Wright's garments have none of the stuffy feeling commonly associated with wool—that is why they are at once luxurious and healthful as long as they last. Sold by dealers at the price of ordinary kinds. Write for our free book "Dressing for Health" which explains more in detail.

The Sale and Exhibition of Original Drawings in "The Ladies' Home Journal" and "Saturday Evening Post."

An extended notice of this event was given in our news of yesterday evening. It is quite timely, as it becomes contemporaneous with today's opening of Oriental Rugs, both features of the fourth floor—the Pictures in the West Store, the Rugs in the East Store. A treat, indeed.

These original drawings are by American artists who have spent, in past years, their best efforts in designing for these well-known literary publications.

We do not quote prices, as there is only one of each drawing, and unless the entire list were published it would be very unsatisfactory.

However, visitors to the picture Gallery today will find a descriptive catalogue of the entire collection, giving name of artist, the subject and the price.

Most of the drawings from the "Ladies' Home Journal" are already framed; those from "The Saturday Evening Post" will be framed by us if requested, our Framing Department having every style of moulding that can be suggested. Our prices are the lowest for such work.

A Broad Choice in Fashionable Black Dress Weaves at 75c a Yard.

As an instance of our progressive merchandising we this morning call attention to the variety of fine and fashionable black dress goods we are able to offer at 75c a yard. We have other blacks for less money, and we have many handsome fabrics in this imported dress goods section which cost much more than 75c. But we consider 75c a very popular price for dress goods, as many people think 75c a yard sufficient to pay for the material for the street dress. Others again think 75c ample to pay for the lighter weight materials used for the dressy evening gowns.

Therefore we have made a special effort to show more variety at this price than ever before and enumerate the following to give you an idea of the variety. As to values, they are one and all remarkably fine materials for the money. Here is a partial list:

54-inch pure all-wool Storm Cheviot, 75c a yard.
52-inch all-wool, rich finished Broadcloth, 75c a yard.
48-inch fine camel's hair Worsted, 75c a yard.
45-inch pure Angora Mohair Sicilian, 75c a yard.
48-inch chevron striped Vicuna Cloth, 75c a yard.
46-inch all-wool Crepe Iris Cloth, 75c a yard.
46-inch all-wool taffeta finished Batiste, 75c a yard.
46-inch extra heavy wool Eudora Cloth, 75c a yard.
46-inch imported striped Voile, 75c a yard.
50-inch all-wool Panama Suiting, 75c a yard.

As a special for today we will offer the season's accumulation of waist, skirt and dress lengths, including the choicest materials, for very decided reductions over original prices. Each piece will be marked with A PRICE FOR THE ENTIRE PIECE.

The Broadening Scope of Millinery.

The spirit of the age is for expansion. This progressiveness is asserting itself even in the millinery world. Not so very long ago the line was very sharply drawn between summer and winter millinery materials. We used to think that chiffons and malines were summer merchandise and inadmissible for winter styles. Today the best designers recognize few restrictions as to what constitutes seasonable millinery. Their art is shown in their interpretation of the spirit of the law while discarding the letter. So in our best creations today the tissue fabrics play as important a part in Winter Millinery as in Summer creations. It is combined with velvets and quantities of flowers, even braids are not ignored. Therefore, while art knows no limitations in the matter, very much depends on the taste and discernment of the creator. This accounts for the lavish use of lace in exquisite and stylish confections designed for evening wear. And further, this broadening of the scope of materials aids the designer in producing individuality as well as beauty, as there are greater possibilities in manipulating a variety of trimming accessories.

Come today and look over our handsome array of hats and toques, ranging in price from $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00 to the fine foreign models at $25.00 and $35.00. Some designed with breasts, tufts and pompons, others lavishly trimmed with foliage and flowers, while plumes have lost none of their popularity.

It is very interesting to a woman to study in these picturesque masterpieces the revival of the quaint and romantic styles of long ago. Take as an instance the now fashionable Charlotte Corday hats. $5.00 to $15.00.

Former Governor Frank S. Black has volunteered to take up the case of Caleb Powers in Kentucky after the election, and fight it to a finish. Mr. Black will render this service without a fee because he is morally certain that Powers is innocent of the crime with which he is charged, and feels that it would disgrace the country if that young man should be executed after being convicted upon prejudice instead of evidence. The former governor of New York is to be commended for the stand he is taking, and he should have ample assistance from others who are solicitous for the fair name of American justice.

Upon information received The Gazette commented some days ago upon the withdrawal of the Republican candidates for the legislature in Clarion county. It develops that only one of the two candidates has withdrawn. Mr. Walker remains on the ticket and is making a canvass for election. The Gazette is glad to know it and hopes he will win. Clarion county went Republican once—in 1875 at the height of the oil excitement there—and it may do so again. The record of Representative J. A. F. Hoy has been such that it may well induce the good citizens of Clarion to vote to leave him at home. Aside from this the nominees should all have stuck to the ticket and worked for the success of the party, for by such means are counties redeemed.

In Philadelphia the other day a 3-year-old child was struck by an electric car. When the horrified motorman brought the car to a stand and rushed out he found Myrtle sitting on the fender sucking a stick of candy. It must be understood that Philadelphia cars are equipped with basket fenders. Recently an item was printed on this page of an occurrence in East Liverpool similar to that in Philadelphia. Imagine what would have happened to these children if the cars of Philadelphia and East Liverpool carried "fenders" like those used in this city! No type of fender can make it safe for persons to stand in front of rapidly moving cars, but the genuine fenders do provent fatalities in many cases. The ordinances of Pittsburgh require fenders on all cars.

We reproduce today from a San Juan newspaper an interestnig account of the first appearance of our Pittsburgh jurist, the Hon. Charles F. McKenna, upon the bench of the United States district court of Porto Rico. Judge McKenna is described as wearing a "new gown patterned after the Porto Rican judge designs." We are not acquainted with the Porto Rican pattern in judicial gowns, but on general principles we favor everything which adds to the dignity of the bench, and would like to see our own judges attired in a style appropriate to their office. We also note that the American eagle, the American shield and two unfurled flags of the United States appear above the seat occupied by Judge McKenna. The appearance of such things in the Philippines are regarded as evidence of imperialism by Democratic party leaders, but they are dear to the American people which regards them as emblems of freedom wherever they appear. Long may the eagle spread his wings and the flag wave in every country in the world where they have found their way, and long may Judge McKenna sit under them dealing out justice under the laws of the United States.

Since Judge Parker has begun to make speeches the conviction deepens that he showed his wisdom by keeping silent when he was a candidate for the nomination. His utterances upon public questions show that he is so unused to consider them that he is ill-informed of matters of ordinary detail. In a recent speech he criticised the government for keeping the public in the dark as to current expenditures, saying among other things that "the public had been denied all information pending the campaign." Everybody interested in the matter sufficiently to give it attention knows that the treasury department gives out at the close of every day's business a statement of the day's receipts and expenditures, a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the month to date, a statement for the year to date, and a comparison with the corresponding period of the previous year. The Associated Press sends this statement out daily. It is regularly published in the financial columns of The Gazette. And yet Judge Parker publicly accuses the administration of withholding this information which has been a matter of routine publication under all administrations.

The explanation given by the Russian admiral of the bombardment of fishing smacks shows that the presence of the Baltic squadron anywhere on the sea is a grave international peril. If fishing smacks in so remote a quarter as the North sea are liable to be mistaken for Japanese torpedo boats any sort of craft is liable to be attacked all along the route of the Russian ships. There was really no reason for apprehending any danger in the North sea or, in fact, anywhere in the Atlantic. Japan at the beginning of the war assured the other powers of her intention to confine it to eastern waters and there has not been any circumstance to cast doubt upon her good faith. The alarm in the North sea was the outcome of an imagination so heated and demoralized as to be a disqualification for the responsibilities of naval command. The Russian explanation will not be accepted in England as an apology, but rather as reason for taking precautions against further damage through Russian incompetence.

The Franchise Raid Completed.

It took common council only 15 minutes last night to pass the three traction ordinances. All went through without restriction in the behalf of the public and without compensation to the public.

The Citizens party was raised to power and the present administration elected for the express purpose of ending this system of loot. So completely were the public imposed upon by the pledges given, that when The Gazette opposed the election of Mayor Hays because it anticipated from his character and antecedents just what has followed, it was censured by some of its friends as being a deserter from the cause of reform. Everything has, however, come to pass of which we warned the public. Not one pledge given by the Citizens party has been kept. The only member of that party who voted against the latest franchise raid was Councilman Roenigk of the Twentieth ward. All the rest of the negative votes were cast by Republican members of councils.

It is an indisputable fact that at present Pittsburgh is the graft center of the country. The system driven out by Minneapolis, Chicago and St. Louis has still a refuge here. The lobby does business in plain view of the community, occupying the municipal offices for its convenience, and the scenes attending legislative action are as devoid of decency as the scuffling of swine around a trough. The interesting question remains to be decided whether Pittsburgh is to lie supine while it is being plundered.

The Court House Still in Danger.

It was hoped that the scheme of deforming the court house would not survive the outburst of public indignation with which it was received, but it appears that its contrivers still hope to put it through. In a statement published yesterday, Commissioner Mercer said: "We have not changed our minds and the plans meet with our approval."

Those best qualified to express an opinion upon the artistic side of the matter condemn the scheme in the strongest terms. The international jury of awards, acting upon the express ground that the court house is "an architectural monument of such artistic and historic importance as to be in a sense a national possession," adopted a resolution declaring that the proposed alteration "would, from an artistic point of view, amount to total destruction." The Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Architects also recorded its emphatic protest. To Mr. Mercer it does not matter what the "various societies, including architects, engineers and the art jury" may say about it. The opposition is "all pure sentiment." Sentiment evidently does not go with him. He is strictly business.

Since considerations of sentiment have no place the only thing to do is to keep up such an agitation as to convince the commissioners that it will not pay. There is one thing that the community would like to know and that is how the judges stand in regard to this scheme. Commissioner Mercer is evidently trying to present them as sponsors for it. According to him all save one favor it. If he does not represent their position correctly it is to be assumed that they will find means of letting the public know how they do stand.

The New York Subway.

Although the work of constructing the New York city subway has taken only a little over four years, such a plan to relieve the congestion in traffic has been discussed more than 40 years. Soon after the war actual work was begun on the tunnel under Broadway, but the boring was stopped on account of legal difficulties in securing the right-of-way. To the late Mayor Hewitt belongs the credit of suggesting the idea that made the subway possible, for he wanted it built by the city. Later he proposed that the contract for building it be let out together with a lease of the completed tunnel for 50 years. This is the plan which finally prevailed, although the project at first received a set-back on account of the inability of the city to exceed the debt limits. After the consolidation for forming Greater New York this obstacle was removed, and the next difficulty to be encountered was the securing of sufficient capital to insure its completion. Financiers came to the assistance of Contractor McDonald and the line has since passed into the operation of a gigantic syndicate which will now operate the surface, elevated and subway lines in New York. One of the active participants in the celebration to mark the opening of the subway this afternoon will be William B. Parsons, who has been identified with many of New York's rapid transit organizations that preceded the successful one he has helped to build.

Railroad Accidents Again.

Apparently railroad fatalities constitute an inexhaustible subject for discussion. It might be a more profitable one if the commentators had more practical knowledge of railroading. The favorite turn is to compare accidents in this country with those abroad and to draw conclusions unfavorable to American roads. This is unfair, for the conditions are wholly different.

There are practically no single-track roads in England; the block system is compulsory; rates are higher and the traffic averages heavier. Under these conditions the English roads are safer; they can afford every safety device and the law compels them to adopt them. The people who pay the rates can better afford to do so because the hauls are short. The long hauls of American roads compel extremely low comparative rates per mile; sparseness of population over wide stretches forbids the expense of double track; long runs tax the energies of employes and the expense of automatic signals discourages the less prosperous companies. These things in the aggregate make the difference between English and American roads in the matter of accidents. American trunk lines have two or four tracks, automatic devices and almost as great security as English roads with much lower transportation charges.

American roads are making progress slowly toward greater security of travelers, though years of unusual travel always show reversions. This year is markedly retrograde. The greater number of collisions have affected excursion trains and have been due to disobedience to or neglect of orders. The inference is plain that the employes make their habitual stops and passing places, but overlook the unusual meeting places with irregular trains. The best remedy for that is the Pennsylvania system of running extra trains as "sections" on or near the schedule of regular trains. There is room for much improvement in American railroading, but perfection must await better conditions.

An Absurd Project.

The latest attempt to frustrate the construction of a proper filtration plant by the substitution of some just-as-good scheme, is, fortunately for the public, so absurdly contrived that it will break down of its own weakness before it can offer a serious menace to public interests. A project which proposes to utilize the present reservoirs as the foundation of a new structure would have the entire business community up in arms as soon as the fire insurance companies were heard from. Already the community is threatened with a large increase of premium rates unless the water supply is augmented and is reinforced with appliances that will relieve the system from absolute dependence upon the Brilliant pumping station. It is part of the Maignen scheme to continue the present dependence of the water supply upon pumping directly from the river for the entire lift. This situation has at times come near leaving the city without a water supply. Last winter over 10,000 valves had to be renewed to keep the pumps in working condition, and there were times when collapse seemed imminent. The filtration plant will completely obviate this risk, as the lift from the river to it is so short that a type of pumps may be used which will keep in full efficiency no matter what river conditions may be. The force pumps at Brilliant, making the high lift to the distributing reservoirs, will then always work in clear water and the valves will not be exposed to the present abrasion from sand and grit that now wears them out by the thousand.

In addition to continuing the dependence upon the Brilliant pumping station, the Maignen scheme proposes to decrease the existing reservoir capacity. During the construction of such a plant as he proposes the reservoirs would have to be emptied at least by sections. The floor of the reservoirs was built to sustain only the evenly distributed pressure of water. To sustain the localized pressure of a building, special foundations must be made. In effect, we must tear up and rebuild the existing reservoirs, and meanwhile go without them. And when the work is finished the reservoir space would be diminished by the area required for the supporting columns of the superimposed filtration plant. These features of the scheme will be likely to attract the attention of the insurance companies in a way which the business community would find very expensive.

The best and cheapest thing that Pittsburgh can do is to go ahead and finish the filtration plant according to the plans approved by every disinterested expert who has examined them. The original filtration commission started out without any preconceived ideas as to the sort of plant Pittsburgh should have. They examined every device known to hydraulic engineering, and they reported in favor of the sand filtration system. Within a year their work has been reviewed by a commission of distinguished experts and they have advised the same system. The only thing to do is to complete the work.

Manual training is the foremost topic of discussion in Titusville. Eight years' experience with a manual training high school at Warren has been so satisfactory that a large number of Titusville citizens demand a similar institution. Education of the hands is more appreciated every year.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A vindictive police officer can make more habitual criminals than all the reformatory schemes in existence can cure. And if the story told by William J. Fields is true, it is harder for a man once convicted to reform than to make water run up hill. Fields pleaded guilty to forgery, because, he says, he was told he would be convicted anyhow, and by pleading guilty could get a shorter sentence. Then he told the district attorney that he had been hounded for years by a police sergeant with a grudge against him, that he was innocent of the forgery charge, and has been "living square" since he left Sing Sing prison 10 years ago.

Mr. Jerome is a unique district attorney, in that he does not seek a record of convictions, but wants only to see justice done. He immediately asked the court to put over the case of Fields until Friday to give him a chance to investigate. If he finds the story Fields tells is true Mr. Jerome will work as hard to keep him out of the penitentiary as he would otherwise to send him there. That is why Jerome has so many friends. Fields admits his first conviction was just. He committed the crime of which he was charged. He "took his medicine like a man," and when he got out of prison began a new life.

Time after time he secured good positions, only to have his employers informed by the police department that he was an ex-convict and therefore not trustworthy. Several times he was picked up on the street by detectives and held as a suspicious person. After 24 hours in jail he would be released, but he could not return to his work and explain his absence. Not one of his employers had aught against him, but the prison stigma, when the police made their reports against him, was enough to send Fields out looking for other employment. He left the state, but he was found out and his employers informed of his record, even though he changed his name.

Fields But One of Many.

Whether the story told by Fields be true or not it points a moral. There have been cases such as he describes in almost every large city in the country. It is the old story of "the dog with a bad name." Once a man is convicted of crime the hand of the whole world seems against him, and the straight and narrow path is doubly narrow for him.

You cannot convince the average police officer that it is possible for a criminal to reform. They laugh at the wise men who are members of the Prison Reform association, and incidentally they make the work of this great organization many times more difficult by their espionage of every man who has been once behind prison bars. Years of honesty and uprightness does not, in their eyes, blot out the one misstep. And they are not entirely to blame. They breathe the fetid atmosphere of criminal life until they become hardened Therefore it would seem to the average observer that the work of the Prison Reform association would do well by beginning their reformation within the police departments of the country.

James McGuire a Similar Victim.

James McGuire is another man who is haunted by an escapade of his youth. When a boy he was implicated with several other lads in the alleged theft of harness. He was sent to a correctional institution for a short term. That was 28 years ago, and since that time there is no one to say that he has not lived the life of an honest man. Unfortunately for McGuire, he did not know that his conviction deprived him of the rights of citizenship.

He has voted at every election since he became of age, and his right was never questioned until now, when someone dug up the old case against him, and he was arrested for registering illegally. His case came up today and he admitted all the facts alleged, but pleaded want of knowledge of the law. The magistrate could do nothing but hold McGuire, even though the case drew forth his sympathy for the man whose error is a crime. McGuire's name was stricken from the registration list, and he will be tried next month on the charge of illegal registration. Meanwhile he is under bond.

Street As An Operating Room.

New York prides itself on being a great metropolitan city, where every man minds his own business and goes his way looking neither to the right nor to the left, and yet a morbid crowd will congregate more quickly in the streets of Gotham than in Timbuctoo. This morning a man was run over by a truck in lower Broadway, and was lying in the streets slowly bleeding to death, surrounded by a crowd so dense that when a policeman and hospital surgeon arrived it was necessary for the policeman to call out the reserves to keep the crowd back in order that the injured man could be given proper attention.

Dr. Nicholas found that it was a case that required immediate attention, and with the policemen forming a wall around him he placed the man on the sidewalk and amputated his arm. It was the only way to save the victim's life, and Dr. Nicholas was the man for the emergency. And even while the operation was being performed the policemen had to use their clubs to keep the crowd from allowing their curiosity to retard the work of the surgeon.

Nips of New York News.

Believers in the strenuous life can get their fill by mingling in the crowds in Broad and Wall streets these days. The lambs seem to be "speculation mad."

Goodman Shiparo, aged three, started out last evening to discover "the land of candy trees," and landed in the arms of a big policeman. When his mother found him in a police station Goodman was apparently as happy as though his quest had been successful.

Either McDougal Hawkes or F. Norton Goddard will be the next postmaster of New York—if some dark horse does not cut into the race in the homestretch and beat both of them.

The enthusiasm at the Carnegie hall meeting tonight would seem to indicate that we might as well make the election of Roosevelt unanimous.

The subway is really to open tomorrow.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

What a funny sort of a world this is, anyway! Haven't you thought so?

While you are pleasing one set you are making another tired.

Two letters received today show off this disposition true to life. Here is one of them:

Mr. Quiet Observer—For several years I have enjoyed reading your column in the daily paper, but I am getting very tired of Greene county and Waynesburg. Can we have something else? I will admit that it is a very good place for the people who are there to live, but as I am a native of the Smoky City I would prefer something of a little more interest.

A SUBSCRIBER.

We all want what we want, or rather we think we want what we think we want.

If "Subscriber" will come out and state plainly what would be more interesting, or what he thinks would be more interesting, an effort will be made to give him what he wants and as much of it as he wants.

But while he is getting his fill this desk will become loaded with protests, petitions and communications intended to crowd him out.

* * * * *

Following is from a letter that came in the same batch with the foregoing. It is from a long-time and most appreciated reader:

Friend Q. O.—A small bouquet thrown over your garden wall will no doubt be more highly appreciated now than after you are dead. So here is one for the Q. O. column this morning.

Your article is all right, not only in the beautiful philosophy scattered through it, but the personal and local history it contains will cause those Greene county fellows to brush up and read The Gazette more than they have been in the habit of doing.

Mr. Sayers, whom you mention, is just the type of man that Swedenborg's philosophy teaches us that all men would be were divine law observed as it may be, and should be, even growing younger instead of old and decrepit. These will be continually realizing and enjoying the fact that the best is to come.

The whole regions 'round about our city is filled with scenes and characters which your pen can make interesting, and it is your duty to go out into the highways and byways and give to The Gazette subscribers their money's worth. We pay in advance and are, therefore, entitled to recognition. P. D. B.

* * * * *

Now, there you are.

But where is Q. O. at, so to speak?

Between the upper and the nether millstone and liable to be squeezed more or less tightly.

However, that is what public servants expect, and the best they can do is to wriggle out when the squeeze gets too tight, or is not altogether agreeable.

There are squeezes and squeezes, you know. But here is something different—one of those unanswerable sort of letters, and yet one that cannot be treated with indifference, nor passed by in silence:

My Dear Friend Q. O.—You can blame it on yourself that I have taken The Gazette for so many years. I don't like to think of it.

For years and years you have put up daily just what I have seemed to need, and after glancing at the first page, the next move is to the Q. O. column.

How do you do this?

How long are you going to keep it up?

How old are you?

You haven't done this and raised a family?

If one person has done all this writing, and so well, and on so many subjects, I can better express myself by asking, How many of you are there?

I can almost imagine you a great pile of leaves bound in morrocco, were it not for the ever newness and up-to-dateness of your subjects.

Let us have a good cut of yourself at the head of your column. Tell us where you were born and when, and give us an idea of how you can for so long preserve such a fertile mind; how you got into it and how it got into you, and all the other things that you will think your friends ought to know.

It has taken me about 10 years to screw my courage up to the point of asking the above, and I would not like to be disappointed—not in all of it. APPRECIATOR.

Carnegie, Pa.

* * * * *

Say, what would you do in such a case?

Confess all and throw yourself on the bosom of a generous public?

Or would you keep your trap shut and pretend that you are some other fellow?

Fortunately this correspondent is only one, and may not represent many of our readers.

And, perhaps, if he only knew, or could be made to realize that he is all the happier for not knowing all that he would like to know, he might withdraw his bill of particulars.

It is the most natural thing to picture your favorite authors in your mind accordingly as you think they ought to appear. And, strange to say, we almost invariably picture them wrong, so that when we see them we are more or less shockingly disappointed.

In all probability many of you regret having met those whose pictures you cherished in your mind and heart because you cherished their memories so fondly, and have been sorry ever since that you did meet them.

Only a very, very few of those who see Niagara for the first time are not disappointed. Having read and heard so much about the falls they come to imagine that the great body of water comes pouring down from the clouds, or at least from so great a height that they will have to strain their necks to see the beginning of the cataract, whereas they look down upon the whole show.

* * * * *

Taken all in all it is better, far better, perhaps, that we don't know about everything, for if we did many things would lose in point of interest, and some would become decidedly commonplace.

All things wouldn't suffer in this way, of course, but imagination does contribute a whole lot to our enjoyment of life in many of its phases.

Illustrations, particularly those illustrating scenes and incidents, are rarely, if ever, an advantage to a reader, particularly if the book is interesting in itself. They represent only what the artist sees, and even he may not truly portray that which is suggested by the text.

Attempts to illustrate poems and novels rarely succeed, and all because the artist and the reader do not feel and see alike.

It is safer, therefore, to make your own pictures. They may not please other folks, but if they please you they will serve a good purpose.

In order to know people well, or even reasonably well, you must be in their company more or less, for no picture, nor any written sketch, will reveal the soul, and the soul is the real man.

The very best pictures of Abraham Lincoln show him to be a really homely man, but he did not so appear to those who knew him personally. His great soul so overshadowed the creature that his features were hardly visible, or at least scarcely noticeable.

It is better, perhaps, that we should not see everything, nor learn all about the things we delight in most.

IT IS TO SMILE.

Kaiser Stories

Percival Gibbons in London Daily Mail.

There is only one personality in Germany today, for although the kaiser has many enemies, he has no rivals.

His position as an individual is as paramount and supreme as his position in the capacity of emperor. In both qualities he is a living factor in every function of the national activity.

It must be singularly galling to be a genius and a monarch at once. It is easier to be a millionaire and a saint in the same person, or a pretty woman and an efficient grandmother. On the one side, the genius from his very nature must discount the worth of many of the elements that make the pomp of monarchy possible—a strain of snobbishness in himself, another of obsequious weakness in those about him, conceit responding to toadyism.

He wrote a poem once which he submitted to a great literary man who dined at the castle for that purpose particularly. Knowing the man, I believe him no less dutiful to his ruler than to the craft he knows so thoroughly. He read the effort, and found his dual duties in conflict. One has the tenderest sympathy for that critic; he had to advise an amateur poet with an exceptional power for resenting hostile comment. He yielded only a very little to the exigencies of the situation.

"This verse, your majesty," he began, "seems to require alteration in certain respects."

The author took the manuscript and conned it thoughtfully. Then his brow cleared.

"Why," he cried, as one seeing a sudden light, "I have actually not signed the poem. Give me a pen."

And the only fault in the work was forthwith remedied.

Half the stories that are current about him could never have come into circulation had the man been accessible to criticism. But this Hohenzollern is an emperor from morn to dewy eve; his suite only speak when they are spoken to. But now and again he overhears a word.

When he was younger and less used to the "go and he goeth" system, he contracted a habit especially irritating to his troops. He used to sound alarms at odd hours, and turn up all available army corps to march past or maneuver when they least expected it—at night or in the gray of a winter morning. On one such occasion the garrison included a detachment of submarine crews, and the emperor came along just before dawn accoutred as an admiral.

He was standing among a group of shivering officers when one veteran, approaching him from the rear, took him for some other worthy sailor. He slapped him vehemently on the back.

"I see that Gondola Willy has fished up the aquarium this morning," he observed, pleasantly.

They attribute the cessation of sudden alarms to that incident in the army, and have all but canonized that dazed veteran.

Princes will be princes, it seems, and there have been times when the kaiser has had to talk like a father to his offspring. There is a delicious story of one wigging which he administered to them which the court is still chuckling over.

"Never forget," he said, solemnly, as they stood to attention before him, "that you are Hohenzollerns and sons of the kaiser of Germany. But you," he added, turning upon one who shall not be particularized—"you remember that I have my eye on you."

In person the kaiser is a florid man of barely middle height, with a full face, fleshy neck and a noticeable general plumpness. On foot, especially when in one of his two score uniforms, he is less regal than engaging; on horseback he is quite a fine figure of a man. Although his horses are specially broken and trained for his use, he has a good working seat in the saddle. To see him go past a saluting base at the rockingchair canter the German cavalry affects is to see a good type of a military-looking man; he could pass in a crowd for a well-to-do major without ambitions. In spite of his growing stoutness he takes a good deal of exercise. In particular he shoots, and he issues to the chase with not much less circumstance than the duke in Browning's "Flight of the Duchess."

A fortnight ago he was after elk in North Germany and, of course, shot an elk. In this great empire loyalty extends also to elks. The elk killed, the next thing was a blast on the horn, the feudal call announcing that the quarry has become meat. The plumed and costumed chief huntsman lifted the slug-horn and blew 'Hirsch todt' (stag dead.)

The kaiser demurred at once.

"This isn't a stag," he said. "It's an elk."

"Mit Erlaub," the huntsman agreed deferentially, "but there isn't such a call as 'elk dead.'"

"See to it, then," directed the kaiser, "that one is composed."

Next year the elk's last moments will be mitigated by appropriate music. But the elk will be less critical than the kaiser.

There is one tale of him which dates from the time when he was a mere princely guards' subaltern, which will do for my last. He was at some military function, wearing, among others, an English order. A fussy general officer, who did not know him, called him up.

"You appear to be ignorant of the rule against the wearing of foreign orders by officers," he snapped. "Where did you get that star?"

"My grandmother gave it to me," explained Wilhelm.

"Your what?"

"My grandmother, the queen of England."

JUDGE M'KENNA'S START.

The Pittsburgh Jurist Wears a New Gown and Sits Under the American Eagle.

(From the San Juan News, Oct. 12.)

The United States district court of Porto Rico began its fall term yesterday, the Hon. Charles F. McKenna, successor of the Hon. William H. Holt, presiding for the first time since his arrival in the island.

There was a large attendance of lawyers, parties and witnesses and many visitors.

During vacation the entire court room and clerical offices were all remodelled and newly furnished. A decided improvement was apparent. Back of the judge's bench and about it are fine carvings and mouldings of American eagle, American shield and rich scroll cornice, to which is attached two unfurled United States flags.

Through the elaborate decorations the judge approached the court to ascend his bench clad in new gown patterned after the Porto Rican judge designs.

The grand jury was qualified and Mr. Elias Wolff of San Juan was nominated by Judge McKenna as foreman. Judge McKenna thus charged the jury.

He first congratulated the people of Porto Rico on the observance of law and good order that enables him to assure them the absence of crimes or offenses of any serious character likely to come before the grand jury. There were but few offenses and they were only trifling. As fellow Americans, Judge McKenna stated, the people of the United States would note the fact to the credit, and it would increase the esteem and respect mutually.

Judge McKenna also instructed the grand jury that as a body of representatives of the people of Porto Rico—more so than any officers or other organizations—it was within their line of duty of the grand jury to adopt recommendations to the congress of the United States to commence erection of public works, public buildings, if in the opinion some were required in Porto Rico; that the secretary of the treasury and other departments at Washington, having requested the views of the court and federal officials in Porto Rico on this subject, the judge deemed it proper to lay said communication before the grand jury just organized, so that they might urge the progress of the public works, and that the laborers and taxpayers might also be benefited. The United States has the land free, so that all the expenditure necessary would be work, labor and material.

The grand juhy, he said, would be asked to consider the question of dredging the harbors of San Juan and Ponce, the erection of federal buildings at San Juan, Ponce and Mayaguez and naval yard on reservation at San Juan.

Judge McKenna said the present accommodations for United States postoffice, United States court and United States custom house were all scattered inconveniently and in a disgrace to size and surroundings to the government.

To remedy this state of affairs, which the government at Washington concede, the grand jury of Porto Rico is respectfully invited to furnish recommendations.

A public hearing will be held by the grand jury in the court house this morning. Judge McKenna also instructed the grand jury that it was their right to visit the jails and penitentiary to inspect treatment of United States prisoners and to report results to this court.

WYMAN WORRIED ABOUT THIEVES

Allegheny's Mayor Has Personal Talk With Supt. Campbell and John Glenn.

SCANDRETT AWAY HUNTING

Mayor Wyman of Allegheny is evidently of the opinion that thieves have of late been too active in their operations on the Northside, for yesterday afternoon he had a very plain talk with Superintendent M. H. Campbell and Assistant Superintendent John Glenn. The three admitted no one to the superintendent's office while the conference was in progress, and after talking with his subordinates for about an hour the mayor went into his own office and refused to give out an inkling of what he said to his thief hunters. The latter were about as reticent, but Campbell did not deny that the work of the police bureau was thoroughly discussed. The mayor really must have had much to say, for only his voice was audible in the front office. It was pitched at such a high key that those on the other side of the door shook their heads knowingly and smiled a peculiar smile.

"Sometimes the mayor comes in and talks things over with us," said Campbell. "We are always glad to see him, for he is seldom seen about this part of the building."

It was suggested that perhaps the mayor was displeased with the failure of the police to capture the two confederates of "Sheeney Harry" Wilson, who, with the latter, made a daring attempt at robbery in the jewelry store of August Loch on Monday afternoon.

"Yes, the mayor did mention that," said Campbell. "He is desirous that we arrest the man and woman who escaped, and we are going to do it if possible. I understand that both have left town, but we'll get them."

If the mayor was angry and said unkind things neither Glenn or Campbell will acknowledge it. Glenn looked pale when the lesson was over and Campbell's countenance was flushed, as though he was suppressing some emotion that he would like to give vent to.

Early in the week Director Scandrett got tired hearing queries concerning graft fired at him and left town. It is said he is hunting. The time of his return is indefinite.

Some one started the report yesterday that Mayor Wyman was going to resign his office and move to California because of his poor health. The mayor says he has not heard of it and thinks someone was just expressing a wish. Mr. Wyman sometimes goes lame with gout, but he says he knows how to treat it and that it seldom stays with him long.

"Sheeny Harry" Goes to Jail.

Harry Wilson, known as "Sheeney Harry," who was arrested in the jewelry store of August Loch in Federal street Monday afternoon for attempted robbery, was held in $1,000 bail for court yesterday by Magistrate Abernathey. He is charged with larceny.

ALLEGHENY SCHOOLS WIN GOLD MEDAL AT ST. LOUIS

Exhibit in Manual Training, Drawing and Domestic Science and Art Is Given an Award.

Prof. C. B. Connelly, head of the manual training department of the Allegheny public schools, has received notice that the gold medal has been awarded by the jury of awards to the Allegheny schools for their exhibit in manual training, drawing and domestic science and art at the St. Louis exposition.

Prof. Connelly has received also, on behalf of the schools, the congratulations of the Pennsylvania school officials for this showing and State Superintendent of Instruction N. C. Schaefer has requested that the Allegheny exhibit be sent to Harrisburg as a permanent exhibit at the new capitol.

The prize-winning exhibit of the Allegheny children represents a work in which about 10,000 pupils are receiving instruction. It shows kindergarten hand work, drawing, art work, elementary manual training, knife work, Venetian iron work, bench work in wood, pattern making, molding in metal, mechanical drawing and the various classes of needlework.

It was shown at the fair that the Allegheny children are the only ones in the United States who receive instruction during the grammar grade in pattern making, molding and blacksmith work.

The award was obtained in competition with similar exhibits from many states and cities of the country. Those who saw the great space given up to such exhibits in the education and social economy building at the fair, will realize the significance of the award.

DIRECTORS ARE HELD.

Officials of Defunct State Bank Must Stand Court Trial.

Nine officers and directors of the State Bank of Pittsburgh were held for court yesterday by Alderman Toole on charges of receiving deposits when the bank was insolvent. The men furnished $500 bail each. But one witness was heard, Archie M. Allen, a certified accountant, who testified to examining the bank's books in November of 1903, and again after February 11, when the bank was closed by the state inspector. He declared the books showed a similar condition each time, there being no material change in the bank's affairs. He said there was about $215,000 worth of notes which he did not consider good assets.

The defendants in the case are J. O. Espy, D. Horrigan, William Herb, T. J. Williams, T. T. Kirk, Addison Boren, W. A. Merritt, Henry Nichol and Edward Kerr.

Albert Dabrydino will be hanged this morning in the jail yard for the murder of Mary Mucenska, May 28, 1903. His spiritual adviser spent some time with him yesterday. Dabrydino is prepared to die. The execution will take place as near 10 o'clock as the arrangements will permit. Other than the county officials, very few persons will witness the execution.

Verdict for Child Actors.

Master Harold DeBecker and his sister, Mistress Mesta, the clever children who are appearing with Miss Cecilia Loftus at the Nixon theater this week, were made almost $1,000 richer during the performance yesterday afternoon. While they were enacting their parts a telegram arrived stating that a Boston justice had rendered an opinion in which they were given judgment against Charles Hawtrey, the English actor, for $920.

MAN BLOWN TO DEATH; MINE PLANT WRECKED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 26.—Horatio Noble was killed this afternoon by an explosion which wrecked the tipple, weigh office, blacksmith shop, carpenter shop and oil house of the Sunshine mine at South Fork. Stored in the oil house on the tipple were 200 small kegs of powder and a box of dynamite. It is stated that the man whose business it is to watch the oil house dropped a lantern and the oily floor caught fire.

Without trying to extinguish the flames the man fled, and within a minute or two a terrible explosion destroyed the works and broke window panes and glassware in every house within 500 yards of the tipple. Noble was standing on a pile of coal under the tipple when the explosion occurred. His body was blown 20 feet. He died 15 minutes later. C. B. Stineman, who is a member of the South Fork Mining Company, which owns the mine, placed the loss at $10,000 and said that the 400 men employed in the mine will be out of work for two weeks.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

A mother's love is so divine that the roughest man cannot help but appreciate it as the crown of womanhood. However, Motherhood is looked forward to with feelings of great dread by almost all women. At such times a woman is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable, and she is in need of a uterine tonic and nervine, a strength builder to fit her for the ordeal. No matter how healthy or strong a woman may be she cannot help but be benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to prepare for the event.

This is what one mother says:

"With a heart overflowing with gratitude I will endeavor to write you. It is nearly two years ago since I first wrote to you for advice regarding my health which was then very bad," writes Mrs. L. Poore, of Hinesdale, Ky., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting surgeon of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. "I have described my sufferings in other letters to you. After receiving your advice and the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser' I bought some of your 'Favorite Prescription,' and to-day am a well woman and the proud mother of a dear little boy."

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century.

How to live in health and happiness, is the general theme of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work on medicine and hygiene, containing over 1000 pages and more than 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers.

MANY WANT TO HEAR P. C. KNOX

Chairman Ford Is Receiving Applications for Tickets to the Old City Hall Meeting.

SENATOR PENROSE IS INVITED

Applications for tickets to the Old City hall meeting on the night of November 5 are being received from Republicans living in Western Pennsylvania counties. They want an opportunity to hear Senator P. C. Knox discuss the issues of the campaign. The stage tickets will be limited to the actual seating capacity.

Chairman Ford yesterday invited George T. Oliver to preside over the meeting. He also sent an invitation to Senator Boies Penrose to be one of the orators of the evening.

Marching clubs from outside of Allegheny county are making application to participate in the parade, which will precede the closing rally of the campaign. Yesterday the Vandergrift Heights Republican club sent word that it would like to be assigned to a position in the procession. It will receive an invitation, as will many other Western Pennsylvania clubs.

Committee Meets November 4.

The committee that is revising the rules of the Republican city committee held a meeting at headquarters yesterday. It has been decided to change the date of the city committee meeting from November 3 to November 4. This switch is the date is occastoned by the fact that the 3rd is Founder's day at the Carnegie library and on the same night Gov. Pennypacker will address a Republican meeting at Braddock.

PLURALITY OF 140,000 FOR THE REPUBLICANS

This Is Estimate Made on Philadelphia's Vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—The Republican city leaders predict a plurality of 140,000 for Roosevelt and Fairbanks in Philadelphia. It is estimated that more than 250,000 votes will be cast at the November election. A plurality of 140,000 will be the largest ever given in Philadelphia for a presidential candidate.

To date no figures have been given by the Democratic city leaders. Beyond holding a number of ward meetings the city Democrats have been inactive in the campaign. What missionary work they have been carrying on has been largely in the interest of their county ticket.

The Parker and Davis cause has been to a great extent allowed to go by default. In striking contrast is the enthusiasm displayed at the Republican ward meetings over the national as well as the county tickets.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

PENNSYLVANIA GUARD BEST IN UNITED STATES

Maj.-Gen. Miller So Declares—Hopes the Legislature Will Provide Armories.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FRANKLIN, Oct. 26.—In the opinion of Maj. Gen. Charles Miller the National Guard of Pennsylvania is the best body of citizen soldiery in the United States. Gen. Miller made the statement, when asked for an expression on the report of the inspecting officers at Gettysburg. He said:

"No other body of 10,000 troops in the United States can be brought together and show as high an average as the citizen soldiery of Pennsylvania. This fact is all the more remarkable considering that after the war with Spain only 25 per cent of old members re-enlisted. The other 50 per cent are all new men and have been trained to their present high state of efficiency in four years. The state has spent a large amount of money for the maintenance of the guard, but the reports of the inspectors would indicate that the taxpayers were getting 100 cents on the dollar for their money. In my judgment what the National Guard of Pennsylvania needs more than anything else at the present time are armories. I trust that the coming legislature will provide ample means for this purpose."

WILL AID SALVATION ARMY.

Society Man and Horse Show Exhibitor Will Help to Build Home at Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Because he says he believes thoroughly in the work that is being done by the Salvation Army, Eben D. The Hon. W. Murray Crane, United States senator, subscribes $100.

The "cent-a-day" boxes around town have realized $20,617. Gov. Bates has written to the officials that their plan to erect a building in Boston, to be called the Peoples Palace, meets his heartiest support. If carried into execution, he adds, the plan will be of the greatest possible aid to the worthy poor.

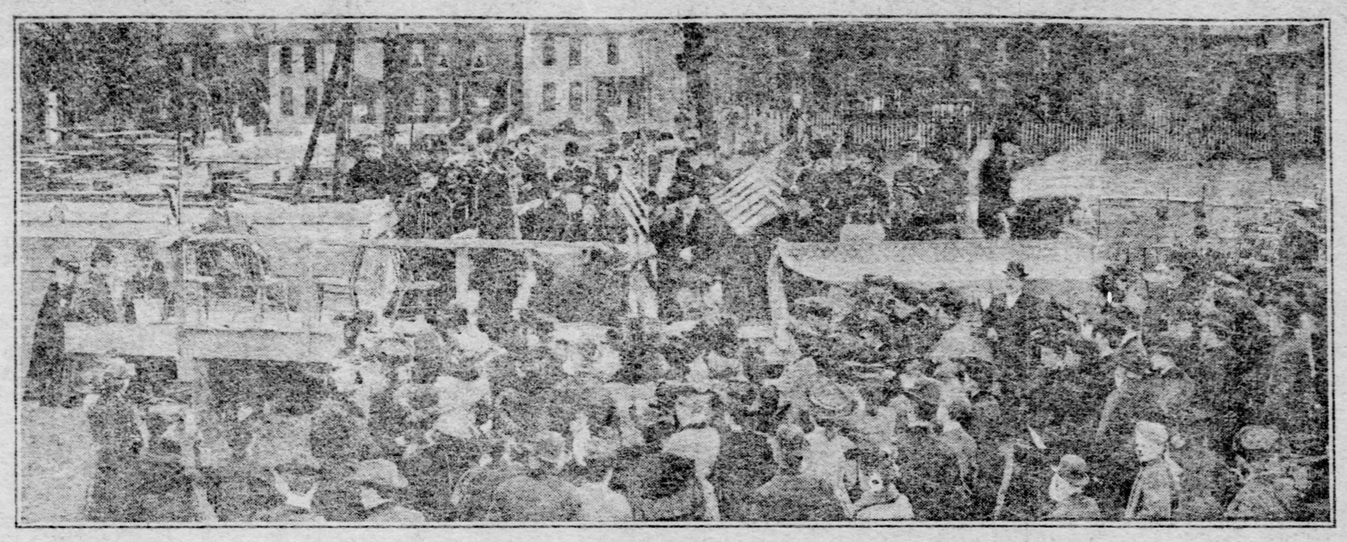
LAID THE CORNER STONE OF MEMORIAL HOSPITAL AT WILKINSBURG



Scene At the Corner Stone Laying, Taken by The Gazette Photographer.

The corner stone of the Memorial hospital at Wilkinsburg was laid by the members of the United Presbyterian Women's association of North America yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Mrs. H. C. Campbell, president of the association, and was witnessed by 300 people. The Rev. Thomas Park gave the invocation and the Rev. Dr. M. M. Patterson, of Wilkinsburg, led the responsive readings. The Rev. Dr. R. M. Russel and Dr. C. B. King greeted the assembly. The corner-stone contained copies of religious papers, the last annual report of the United Presbyterian Women's association, the charter of the association, the program of the semi-centennial of foreign missions, to be held in December in Pittsburgh, and daily papers. It also contained pictures of the hospital in Allegheny, of the Rev. Dr. James Fulton, founder of the association; Dr. James V. Herron, of Allegheny; Mrs. A. P. Birchfield; Mrs. J. A. Wilson, president of the board; Mrs. H. C. Campbell, president of the association for over 20 years; J. L. Beatty, architect, and some old American coins dated from 1813 to 1819, presented by Mrs. Rose, an inmate of the home. Letters of regret were read from Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, Francis J. Torrance and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Whitehead. The Rev. Theodore N. Eaton of the Wilkinsburg Methodist Episcopal church, South avenue, brought greetings from the Ministerial association of Wilkinsburg, and Dr. F. M. Storer from the Medical association of Wilkinsburg. The Rev. Dr. M. M. Patterson pronounced the benediction. The contract calls for completion of the hospital July 1, 1905. The work was commenced June 24, last.

TAFT SAYS PARKER HAS BEEN DECEIVED

Secretary of War Replies to Candidate's Statement on Philippines.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Secretary of War William H. Taft discussed the issues of the campaign at a large Republican mass meeting in the Lyceum theater here tonight. The meeting was in charge of the Tompkins County Freemont club, composed of 300 veterans who voted for "The Pathfinder," and who have declared their intention of voting for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

Secretary Taft's speech was devoted to a reply to Democratic charges against the Philippine government.

No man, he said, but an anti-imperialist and one completely blinded by intense prejudice, could make the report of the conditions in the Philippine Islands which Judge Parker has unfortunately been deceived into accepting and giving the widest publicity. He says that we have wasted 200,000 lives in the Islands. This estimate of the deaths caused by the war in the islands, and by our being in the islands, is quite as far from the truth as his statement of the cost of the Philippines to the United States.

Judge Parker has permitted himself to say that the islands remain today utterly untouched for any good. Does Judge Parker think that the extension of civil liberty to 7,000,000 people was something which left the islands untouched for any good? Does he think that the extension of the writ of habeas corpus in a country in which it was the commonest occurrence that thousands of men were consigned to prison and kept for years without a trial or even knowing what they were confined for—of no benefit? Does he think that the establishment of an honest and high-minded judiciary touches the islands for no good, when under the former regime the dishonesty and corruption in courts was known of all men?

A GREELEY CAMPAIGN.

Maj. Alex. McDowell Speaks Glowingly of the Campaign and Predicts a Big Victory.

"This is virtually a 'Greeley' campaign. The voters had made up their minds which way to vote before the campaign opened. By conceding the doubtful districts, it cannot be possible for the majority of Republicans in the house of representatives being reduced less than 15. However, I will be greatly surprised if the majority is lessened at all."

Thus spoke Alexander McDowell, clerk of the house of representatives. He was on his way from his home in Sharon to Scranton, where tonight he will deliver an address. When seen at the Union station he intimated that speech-making at this campaign was attended with little enthusiasm. While all the meetings are largely attended there is not the excitement that usually accompanis such campaign gatherings.

"The assertion of nAdrew Carnegie that the tariff on some products could be reduced," he said, "does not necessarily mean a complete revision of the tariff schedule. The combinations of capital comprises only 7 per cent of capital invested. It is impossible to establish a tariff to please the 7 per cent without injuring the other 93 per cent; nor can a tariff be made to favor the 7 per cent. Roosevelt is a sure winner; if this was doubtful there would be manifest more enthusiasm by both parties."

REPLY STARTLED FAMILY.

Girl Writes to Her Brother and Receives Word That He Is Buried.

Through a letter written by Isabella Galbraith of Grace street, Mt. Washington, to her brother, William Galbraith, Jr., aged 21, the young man's family has learned from the authorities at League island navy yard, Philadelphia, that the young man is dead and buried at League island. Galbraith enlisted at the local recruiting station last April and had since been stationed on the training ship Lancaster.

At the time he enlisted Galbraith gave his birthplace and the residence of his parents as Snowshoe, Pa. His family had removed to Osceola Mills several years ago and when the young man died on October 7, of a milignant sore throat, telegrams were sent to his father at Snowshoe, but he could not be located. Galbraith was buried the day following his death. Mr. Galbraith has gone to League island to investigate his son's death, and the body will probably be brought here and reinterred. Besides his parents, two sisters and four brothers survive. James Galbraith of Grace street, Mt. Washington, is a brother.

MURDERED IN PRISON.

Penitentiary Authorities Believe Such Was Fate of Unpopular Convict.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26.—Thomas Hale, colored, a life convict from Hamilton county, died at the penitentiary tonight of opium poisoning, and the authorities suspect he was murdered by some fellow prisoner.

Hale was a disturber and was disliked by many prisoners who he had caused to be reported for infraction of rules. It is supposed the poison was placed in his food by one of his prison enemies. He complained of being sick yesterday, but was believed to be shamming, and was punished by the electric battery.

Cecilia Loftus Denies Engagement.

CHARGES THAT 1,000 MEN ARE REPEATERS

Superintendent of Elections Asks Courts to Strike Names from Lists.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—State Superintendent of Elections Morgan this afternoon applied to Supreme Court Justices Bischoff and Clarke to have 1,000 names stricken from the registration lists. He charged them with being repeaters. For nearly three weeks two judges have devoted the whole of their time to the registration cases. For four hours the judges were kept on a ceaseless treadmill of signatures to "orders to show cause." Each jurist took 500 cases.

The problem of how the cases could be disposed of in the two remaining available days was solved by making one case the test for 100 in which the main issues are similar. The justices will sit, if necessary, until 9 or 10 o'clock at night to clear the calendar. There are 4,000 other illegal registration cases to be dealt with in the police courts.

Ten thousand cases of fraudulent registration in Greater New York, it is claimed, have been discovered by Superintendent Morgan's men. In announcing that fact today Gov. Odell admitted that the courts would be swamped by such a large number of cases, and that all of them could hardly be disposed of. "But," he added, significantly, "I think it is not hazardous to say that not more than a score of the 10,000 who have registered illegally will vote on November 8.

"We have discovered all kinds of frauds in all parts of the city, in Brooklyn and Queens as well as in Manhattan. Dead men and persons who have moved have their names on the registry list. There are also a good many men from Lexington, Ky., and from Chicago who have apparently made their plans to vote here this fall."

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND LYING ON HIGHWAY

Her Husband and Friend, Under Arrest, Suspected of Killing Her.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CANTON, O., Oct. 26.—Wilson Druckenbrod is in jail suspected of murdering his wife. Peter Sonnhalter, his friend, is also held on suspicion of having committed the crime. The murder occurred some time last night north of this city. The woman's body, with a bullet through the head, was found on the highway.

Five weeks ago Druckenbrod and his wife quarreled and separated. She took their 4-year-old boy and went to work for a neighbor as a domestic. Sonnhalter frequently called on her and she would leave the house with him. He claims that the sole object of his visits was to bring about a reconciliation, and Druckenbroth also says he sent for and offered to pay Sonnhalter for the services. Some one called at the house last night. Mrs. Druckenbrod answered the knock and left with the caller. That was the last seen of her. Jealousy was the cause of the trouble between Druckenbrod and his wife. She was 22 years old.

TO CHANGE BROOKS LAW.

Pennsylvania Hotel Men at Annual Meeting Want Privilege of Selling Liquors After Midnight.

The Pennsylvania State Hotel association at its annual meeting today at the Hotel Rider, Cambridge Springs, will take steps toward effecting a change in the Brooks liquor law, permitting large hotels the privilege of selling liquor until 1 o'clock in the morning. The principal object of this measure is to permit hotels to serve wines to after-theater diners. According to the 11:45 p. m. closing order, hotel men say it is practically impossible to serve liquors with midnight meals, and as a result they lose thousands of dollars of trade every year.

Every prominent hotel proprietor in the state will attend the convention. The local members are E. E. Bonneville, Hotel Henry; F. H. Tooker, Newell's hotel; F. A. Brobst, Hotel Lincoln; F. C. Smith, Colonial hotel; James Riley, Hotel Schenley, all of Pittsburgh; J. H. Sauer, Allegheny; John Sauer, Allegheny; D. Goetz, East Pittsburgh. They will go in a special car on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad this morning.

Stranger Swindles Girl Cashier and Jokes Her in a Letter.

A stranger entered the store of Wagner Brothers, Sharpsburg, yesterday and asked Miss Wagner, cashier, to give him a $10 and $5 bill to send to his mother. He handed the envelope back to the girl, saying he would go home and get another dollar. He did not return. Miss Wagner opened the envelope and discovered a note, reading:

"Dear old mother, thank you for the money. Will see you later." The man has not been captured.

ROJESTVENSKY'S STORY RIDICULED IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The statement attributed to Admiral Rojestvensky at Vigo, is received with ridicule here. It is so utterly at variance with the facts in the case as told by one of the fishermen whose evidence has been taken that it is held to be utterly beyond belief. It is pointed out that the fishermen without an exception tell how the Russian searchlights played on the fishing fleet for a considerable time before the firing began and one of the witnesses told how the warships were so close that a fisherman held up a couple of fish so that the Russians might know the business of the trawlers.

NO CAUSE FOR ACTION IN THE COPPER CASES

Court Sustains Demurrer of Companies in Suit of John MacGinniss.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Judge Blanchard in the supreme court today sustained a demurrer interposed by the Amalgamated Copper Company, the Boston and Montana Company and other copper companies to a suit brought against them by John McGinniss, vice president of the Montana Ore Purchasing Company.

McGinniss, alleging conspiracy on the part of the defendants, sued to restrain the paying out of dividends and the doing of certain other acts, arising out of the purchase by the Amalgamated company of the majority of the stock of the defendant, Parrott company, and the defendant, Anaconda company.

Justice Blanchard says in a long opinion that he has "patiently investigated the voluminous and complicated complaint" (McGinniss') and is "convinced that no cause of action is stated against the demurring defendant. The demurrer may be sustained, with costs, with leave to the plaintiff to serve an amended complaint within 20 days."

WANTS MORE POLICEMEN.

Supt. Wallace Will Ask for 50 Additional Officers for East End and Oakland.

In order to give better protection to the residents in East End and Oakland, Superintendent Wallace will today ask Mayor Hays to assist him in securing 50 more policemen and five captains. Superintendent Wallace conferred with Director Moore yesterday about the small force and decided it is imperative that more men be secured.

It is Superintendent Wallace's idea to place two more captains at the Franks-town avenue station house, one at the Forty-third street station house, one at the South Thirteenth and one at the West End station. According to the official, the beats in East End are too large for the officers to cover.

Thirty more men would be required to protect East End properly and 20 more are needed to care for the Oakland district. During the cold months burglars and housebreakers are always more active. Fifty more officers will give Pittsburgh a force of 500 men.

Will Attend Subway Opening.

A party of Pittsburgh engineers left last night for New York, where they will attend the formal opening of the Rapid Transit Company subway. In the party were R. L. Oberholder, chief chemist; F. A. Stess, S. P. Davis, L. G. Wilcox, N. J. Gray, George Nuss and F. Neuman, inspectors. The above named persons inspected the material furnished by Pittsburgh firms for the construction of the subway.

Two Policemen Discharged.

Of the four policemen arraigned for hearings before the trial board yesterday two were dismissed from the service and the others were let off with light fines. George Harter of the South Thirteenth street station house was discharged for drinking while on duty and C. A. Mahoney of the same station house for neglect of duty.

ANOTHER LIGHT GRANT ASKED

New Company Applies for Franchise and Will Use Bell Telephone Company's Conduits.

ORDINANCE IS LONG HELD UP

Pittsburgh councils are asked to grant a franchise which will permit another company to engage in the electric light business in competition with the Allegheny County Light Company and also with the Hall syndicate, providing the Hall company retains the franchise which was granted it this week by councils. The Pennsylvania Automatic Signal and Alarm Company is the applicant for the new franchise and its ordinance, which includes the light franchise, has been pending in the corporations committee since the organization of the new councils.

One of those interested in the new company stated yesterday that it was proposed to use the conduits and lines of the Bell Telephone Company, and by this arrangement the company would be prepared to do business in a short time. If the electric light feature of the ordinance is not stricken out, the company will compete for the city lighting contract for next year, which is to be let in January.

The primary object of the Pennsylvania Automatic Signal and Alarm Company is said to be to construct a police and fire alarm system to be connected with residences and business houses and and also with the city's police stations and engine houses. The ordinance was also drawn to permit the company to engage in the lighting business.

Light Feature Is Opposed.

It is the intention of the Pennsylvania company, if it obtains the franchise, to operate on the same principle that the Duquesne Light Company, controlled by the Hall syndicate, proposes to operate. The Duquesne Light Company has announced its intention of using the conduits of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company, which is also controlled by the Hall interests.

Although the ordinance of the Pennsylvania Automatic Signal and Alarm Company has been in the corporations committee since last spring, and a similar ordinance was shelved in the old councils, it was stated yesterday by those interested that an effort will be made in a few days to get the ordinance through councils. The officials of the company have not yet determined what course will be pursued to accomplish this result. The company has been informed that the electric light feature has been the main cause for the ordinance being held up in councils and the promise has been made that if this feature is eliminated the ordinance will be passed.

It is required that the subject of every ordinance shall be stated in the title of the ordinance, and the title of the ordinance of the Pennsylvania Automatic Signal and Alarm Company does not exclude electric lighting. The title is as follows:

Bill Permits Electric Lighting.

Granting the Pennsylvania Signal and Alarm Company, its lessees, successors and assigns, the right to enter upon, use and occupy the streets, avenues and alleys of the city of Pittsburgh for the purpose of constructing, laying and maintaining therein, conduits, subways, tubes, cables and wires through, under and across said streets, avenues and alleys and to erect poles and supports upon and along the same and to string wires and cables thereon.

The part of the ordinance that enables the company to make an arrangement with the Bell Telephone Company for the use of the latter's conduits, wires, poles, etc., is Section 2, which is as follows:

Said Pennsylvania Automatic Signal and Alarm Company shall have the right, and consent is hereby given to said company, to lease or rent from or to any other corporation, the use of its conduits, sub-ways, wires, poles and other electrical apparatus or device.

The company offers the city an annual compensation of 5 per cent of its gross receipts.

THEATERS NEXT WEEK.

A Varied and Entertaining Menu Will be Offered in the Local Theaters Next Week.

Peter F. Dailey and Fay Templeton have very strong and attractive parts in John J. McNally's latest musical farce, "A Little of Everything," which Klaw & Erlanger will present at the Nixon theater for a week's engagement, beginning next Monday. "A Little of Everything" was seen on the New Amsterdam aerial theater, New York, the entire summer and was moved to the Broadway theater to finish its run. It will be brought to Pittsburgh with the original production and company.

Probably the most attractive bill of the season thus far at the Avenue theater will mark the farewell appearance of the stock company at this house, commencing next Monday afternoon, when Augustin Daly's famous success, "A Night Off," will be given with every member of the stock company in the cast. "A Night Off" has not been seen in Pittsburgh in a number of years, but it is recalled by old theatergoers as one of the funniest plays of modern times.

"King Dodo" and his merry court of jesters, dancers and singers and his entrancing bodyguard of lovely young women, will bring his radiance and fun to the Duquesne theater next week. The opera, which is the joint work of Pixley and Luders, has become to be known as a standard work on account of the tunefulness of its score. In fact, every musical number is a gem.

"The White Tigress of Japan," the greatest melodrama ever written about the Russian-Japanese war, is the Bijou's attraction next week. The play has been given the proper "atmosphere" and the characters, or at least many of them, are the chief figures of the present war which one reads about every day.

A new sensational play, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," comes to the Empire theater for the week, beginning with a special Hallowe'en matinee on Monday. The play is a dramatization from a pamphlet written by Count Leo Tolstoy, the Russian novelist, in which he denounces the settlement of international difficulties by the arbitrament of the sword, and charges all emperors, kings and presidents with murder, who resort to war for this purpose.

Harry Gilfoil, the eccentric comedian, will be among the headliners at the Grand next week. He will appear in his well-known character impersonations and imitations. Robert Fulgora, the transfigurator, will introduce his lightning changes. The Three Keatons will be among the fun-makers, as will E. J. Rice, the monologist. There will be 15 acts in all.

"The Flying Rathburns," marvelous aerialists, in an act that has never been equaled in this country, is one of the principal features of the "Merry Maidens" company, which will be at the Academy next week.

Opening of the Gayety.

"Way Down East," Lottie Blair Parker's idyllic play of New England farm life, comes as the opening attraction on Monday, to the new Gayety, and will be here for a two weeks' engagement, including matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The play is one that appeals not to a limited class, but to everybody with a spark of sympathy, a liking for an interesting story and a relish for good, wholesome fun. There are many reasons for its popularity—its pathetic theme, its genial humor, its charming pictures of country life, its quaint characters and striking realism.

Winter Voyages to Summer Lands.

An instructive and profusely illustrated booklet, entitled "Winter Voyages to Summer Lands," has been published by the Hamburg American line for gratuitous distribution. The booklet contains nearly 100 half-tone illustrations of scenes and places in the West Indies, the Spanish Main, Madeira, Spain, the Mediterranean and the Orient, and along the shores of the Adriatic sea, besides a number of maps showing the course followed by the well-known superb cruising steamers Meteor, Prinzessin Victoria Luise and Moltke, which will make these cruises. An intelligent descriptive text of the numerous places is contained in the itineraries and gives the publication an instructive value, which is interesting alike to those who contemplate making the voyage, as well as to those who are obliged to stay at home.

MAN IS PRACTICALLY DISROBED AND KILLED BY LOCOMOTIVE

An unknown man was partly undressed, his coat, shirt and undershirt turned inside out, and he was killed by a locomotive near Woodville last night at 8 o'clock on the Pittsburgh, Chartiers and Youghiogheny branch of the Panhandle railroad, without leaving any cuts or scratches on his body. In addition to this, one shoe and stocking was torn off his foot and the seams of his trousers were ripped, but otherwise not torn. The man was killed outright. He was walking on the tracks and was run down by a passenger train. The engineer and conductor went back and were surprised to find him lying on the tracks practically disrobed. Examination showed no cuts about the body. His coat, undershirt and overshirt were turned inside out and were lying several feet away from him. These garments were intact. His left ankle was broken and the shoe remained on that foot. The shoe and stockings, however, were knocked off the right foot. These articles were not damaged. There was nothing on the man by which he could be identified. He was about 45 years old.

WARRANT NEEDED TO RAID CLUBS WITH A CHARTER

City Solicitor Rodgers yesterday notified Director Moore that the police had no power to investigate gambling in a chartered club. The police are positive the provisions of the charter are being violated. The police cannot raid a chartered club unless they obtain direct evidence of open gambling and have made information against the officials of the club. Armed with a warrant the police can raid the place. The police inspectors yesterday reported to Director Moore there were no open gambling houses in their districts.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

To Prove What the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, Will Do for You, Every Reader of The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Absolutely Free by Mail.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected, and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys begin to get better they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

I cheerfully recommend and indorse the Great Remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, for kidney trouble and bad liver. I have used it and derived great benefit from it. I believe it has cured me entirely of kidney and liver trouble, from which I suffered terribly.
Most gratefully yours,
A. R. Reynolds, Chief of Police,
Columbus, Ga.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for many kinds of diseases, and if permitted to continue much suffering and fatal results are sure to follow. Kidney trouble irritates the nerves, makes you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable. Makes you pass water often during the day and obliges you to get up many time during the night. Unhealthy kidneys cause rheumatism, gravel, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints and muscles; make your head ache and back ache, cause indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, you get a sallow, yellow complexion, make you feel as though you had heart trouble; you have plenty of ambition, but no strength; get weak and waste away.

The cure for these troubles is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the world-famous kidney remedy. In taking Swamp-Root you afford natural help to Nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that is known to medical science.

How to Find Out.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to your condition, take from your urine on rising about four ounces, place it in a glass or bottle and let it stand twenty-four hours. If on examination it is milky or cloudy, if there is a brick-dust settling, or if small particles float about in it, your kidneys are in need of immediate attention.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is used in the leading hospitals, recommended by physicians in their private practice, and is taken by doctors themselves who have kidney ailments, because they recognize in it the greatest and most successful remedy for kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

OLD-TIMERS HAVE A JOLLY REUNION

Men of Homestead Who Were Residents Prior to 1881 Hold First Annual Gathering.

VISITORS SEE OLD HOME

Early days in the borough of Homestead were recalled last night by more than 200 men, who gathered in Schuchmann's hall on the occasion of the first reunion of what is hereafter to be known as "The Old-Timers of Homestead." Briefly, it was a gathering of present residents and residents of the borough who lived there prior to 1881, when Homestead was still a township and had seen none of her wonderful development and stirring times that since have made it known in all parts of the world. None was admitted unless it was known that he was an early settler, whose claims to be called an old-timer were justified by his associates or his acquaintance with the traditions of the place prior to its incorporation as a borough.

A number of men whose succeeding years in the town have been coincident with its development, decided several weeks ago to bring together as many as possible of those who knew Homestead almost a quarter of a century ago. Invitations were sent out and preparations made to entertain any who might attend from distant or nearby places. Evidently all those informed of the reunion entered into the spirit of the thing, and a number of stores in the borough did little or no business yesterday.

Those whose homes are in Homestead began early in the day to entertain the visitors. The steel works, of course, interested those who had left the borough before their erection. The Carnegie library and other places of interest were shown to the long absent.

With all the generosity of old-time entertainers the committee that arranged for the dinner last night had supplied young roast pig, groundhog and fried chicken, with pumpkin pie, apple tarts and numerous other edibles that were to be found on the table when any special occasion brought the old residents of Homestead together in times long past. It was the purpose to give the affair the environment and characteristics of some jollification of 25 years ago, and it every detail this was a success.

Lawrence Oeffner acted as chairman and introduced the Hon. John F. Cox, the toastmaster. Among those who responded was C. C. Will of West Alexander, who was the first burgess of Homestead in 1882. His speech was a felicitous one, reminiscent of the days when there were no big mills, no paved streets, trolley cars or flat dwellers; when most of the small number of residents owned their own homes and thought nothing of walking into Pittsburgh when it was necessary.

J. H. Williams, secretary of the school board, who lived in what is now Homestead in 1865, spoke of the fields he ploughed in the vicinity of what is now Eighth avenue, the principal business street of the borough. The Rev. Dr. John J. Bullion, pastor of St. Mary's church, made a short address.

Among the old residents present were Sam P. Cooley of Carnegie, who is 80 years of age, and John Lowrey of Homestead, aged 77. Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, who is a native of Homestead, sent a letter expressing his regret at being unable to attend the reunion. Some of those who came from distant parts were: Andrew W. Ibenour of San Bernardino, Cal.; David Wilius of Wheeling, W. Va.; George Ross of Ashtabula, O., and Conrad E. Greib of Mansfield, O. The committee who arranged for the gathering are Lawrence Oeffner, chairman; Joseph Mort, secretary; Fred Schuchmann, treasurer; John B. Jones, George J. Gessner, Charles K. Bryce and Dr. P. J. Oeffner.

MISSIONARIES REPORT.

Workers in Foreign Fields Tell of Conditions and Ask for Better Support at Allegheny Meeting.

Many missionaries from foreign fields attended the quarterly meeting of the Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbytery of the Presbyterian church yesterday. Two sessions were held in the First church, Allegheny, and Mrs. John A. Bell presided. The Rev. William Thompson, a returned missionary from Japan; Dr. Robert M. Johnston, medical missionary to Batanza, Africa, and Mrs. John Aiken, also from Japan, told of the work in their fields, and all appealed for more money with which to carry on the work.

There was a large attendance at the afternoon session. After devotional exercises by Mrs. Bell the Rev. F. O. Johnson, located in Africa, gave an account of conditions in his field. Dr. Johnson asked for more hospitals and more money to maintain them. He said they are now overcrowded and poorly equipped. Mrs. David Thompson, returned missionary from Japan, said the work is satisfactory so far as it goes, but that it is too limited. Mrs. W. C. Johnston, who is located at Efulen, Africa, spoke of the difficulties of foreign missionary work and ask for more funds. The Rev. J. A. Eakin, who has charge of the high school at Bangkok, Siam, reported the progress of the school very satisfactory, but stated that the means to carry on the institution are too meager. He spoke highly of the change for the better brought about by the mission in the sanitation of the town.

The executive committee of the Young People's society held an executive session.

CHOP SUEY MEN UNITE.

Protective Association Formed by the Chinese Restaurant Owners.

The restaurateurs discussed the advisibility of legal proceedings against those who made critical remarks about the famed chop suey, but the association decided to allow their patrons to be the judges of the quality instead.

FEAR PUBLICITY, SAYS LAWSON

Reply Is Made to Statement Issued by Standard Oil Company.

ROCKEFELLER WAS ALARMED

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—Thomas W. Lawson tonight issued a reply to the Standard Oil statement put out this morning, in which he says:

"During the past 30 years there has gone up to Him who rights all wrongs from the countless thousands who have been robbed of happiness and hope by the most brutal of all human instruments, 'the system,' a piteous wail, 'How long, O Lord!' in a simple business proclamation in the press of the world this morning comes the answer, 'No longer, no longer.'

"For 40 years the thumb screws of legislation, the rack of the courts and the straight-jackets of society have failed to coax, force or surprise from 'Standard Oil' any other answer than 'We will see the American people in hell before we will consult them about our business.'

"During the past five years Mother Nature has been working wonderous changes in men and in the great scheme of things. What legislation, the courts and society could not do in the nineteenth century has, with the beginning of the twentieth, been accomplished by that most potent of modern weapons of civilization—publicity.

"Yesterday 'Standard Oil' had a meeting. There probably never was one held before to which other 'Standard Oil' men went with such uncertain dread as yesterday. I keep closely in touch with Broadway. I used to for gain, but I do now for safety. The word was passed before yesterday's meeting, 'John D. is furious and something is going to drop.'

"A few of the active men were so scared they slipped into the market and out of their stocks. John D. Rockefeller did all the talking that broke forth his silence. Boiled down it would read: 'The people are aroused as never before. Bank deposits are being withdrawn, throughout the country, and insurance policy holders are panic-stricken. Some one in this building is responsible for it. It is not I. I have been deceived, whether intentionally or unintentionally is of no consequence, but I see and hear enough to convince me there has been done in the name of 'Standard Oil' that which I am in ignorance of and propose to tell the people it is not this company or John D. Rockefeller who has done it,' and he dictated the statement that this morning startled the business world.

"I am no prophet and there is no need I should be, to make this prediction: When history sets down for unborn generations the doings of 'Standard Oil' and the 'system' it will read: 'The first intimation the people had that the most cruel machine of the times, the instrument for plundering the many for the benefit of the few, was tottering, was the breaking of 40 years of insolent silence. John D. Rockefeller compelled his associates to issue a public statement. Instantly disintegration set in and the people, suddenly awakening to the weakness this act made plain, set the law upon it and rendered it.'"

Inspecting American Industries.

A. Johnasen of Stockholm, Sweden, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday on a tour of inspection of American industries. Today he will visit the Carnegie Steel Company works and the Westinghouse interests, in company with Emil Swensson. He came here from St. Louis, where he visited the world's fair.

Inspected Armor Plate.

Lieut. S. Y. Britt, who is stationed at Fort Terry, N. Y., was commissioned to inspect a special order of armor plate being made at the Carnegie Steel works at Homestead. He filled his assignment yesterday and left last night for his headquarters. He said the material being turned out is as perfect as could be made.

THOUSANDS CHEER MR. FAIRBANKS

Makes Eloquent Reference to Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill.

TALKS ABOUT PANAMA CANAL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HANNIBAL, MO., Oct. 26.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks tonight concluded a hard day's work of campaigning with a speech to enthusiastic thousands in Hannibal. During the day his special train traversed Illinois, the first speech being made in Decatur. At nightfall the train entered Missouri.

The largest and most inspiring meeting of the day was in Springfield, Ill., where the senator referred eloquently to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. He said in part:

"Here we do indeed stand upon holy ground. Here lies buried one whose name will survive centuries. To yonder tomb the patriots of all countries will make their pilgrimage and draw new inspiration for the duties and responsibilities of life."

In speaking of the Panama canal treaty here tonight, the senator said:

"We ratified with Colombia a treaty to give Colombia $10,000,000 and $250,000 a year rental, beginning nine years after the date of the treaty. This treaty went to Colombia and the pleading against it began. The statesmen of Colombia had an erroneous idea of the American people. They thought we were a great, rich people and that we would be willing to pay more than $10,000,000. The franchises of the French canal company across the isthmus were about to expire and these statesmen at Bogota thought they could forfeit these franchises, appropriate the property the French people had constructed and then sell it to the United States. They would thus get the $10,000,000 for the franchise, plus $40,000,000 for the property of the canal company and $250,000 a year, beginning nine years from the date of the treaty. But they did not understand the character of the American people."

SCORED LABOR TRUSTS.

Speaker at Trans-Mississippi Congress Declares Public Tires of Unreasonable Demands.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Before the Trans mississippi congress today F. B. Thurber of New York, president of the United States Export association, made an address on "Organized Labor and the General Public." He said in part:

"The public is beginning to understand that there may be labor trusts as well as capital trusts. Only that which is reasonable can last, and the public is getting tired of the unreasonable demands of organized labor, which represents less than one-fifth of all the labor in the United States. It formulates 'demands' in meetings where one side is represented, and then enforces these demands by means of strikes, for which the public is chief sufferer.

WEST VIRGINIA POLL SHOWS A REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Senator Scott of West Virginia, in charge of the speakers' bureau at Republican national headquarters, will leave for West Virginia Friday to take personal charge of the closing of the campaign in that state. TO ASK FOR REBATE ON EXCESS BAGGAGE RATES

The initial step toward securing an interchangeable excess baggage ticket, which is designed to be used by traveling men on the same basis as mileage books, will be taken at Cleveland in a conference today between the business men's associations of the territory of the Central Passenger association. The Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Pittsburgh will be represented by Manager James W. Wardrop.

The meeting will be held in the rooms of the Cleveland chamber of commerce. Cincinnati, Detroit, Columbus, Chicago, Indianapolis and Pittsburgh will be represented. The object is to have books issued by the railroads in the Central Passenger association territory giving checks to the value of $30 for excess baggage charges for $20. It is a rebate which traveling men say is only reasonable to demand of the railroads, and the books would be an added convenience to all persons who are often required to pay excess rates for the transportation of their baggage. It is proposed to take up the matter also in the Trunk Lines association territory.

FRANCIS MURPHY HERE.

Apostle of Temperance Is Arranging to Hold Big Meeting in Pittsburgh Sunday Night.

Francis Murphy, the apostle of temperance, is in Pittsburgh and will today make arrangements to hold a big public meeting on Sunday evening. Mr. Murphy expects to secure one of the churches for his meeting. He arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and is stopping with his son, Thomas Edwin Murphy, an attorney of Johnstown, Pa., at the hotel Schenley.

Mr. Murphy said one of his reasons for coming to this city at this time from his home in Los Angeles, Cal., is to hear his son speak at the Republican mass meeting which will be held tonight in Odd Fellows hall, Sarah and South Eighteenth streets. While in this city among his multitude of friends, from whom Mr. Murphy says he has received much inspiration for his work, he could not resist the opportunity of bringing them together for the great cause again.

Mr. Murphy has been making his home in Los Angeles for the last three years. Since removing to that city he says he has found the people kind and generous. He has a fine hall with a seating capacity of 1,000 and public meetings are held each Sunday evening and prayer meetings on Thursday evenings. Edward L. Dan Patch Goes Fastest Mile Ever Paced by Harness Horse---W. U. P. Wins Easily

SUSQUEHANNA IS EASY FOR W. U. P.

Mosse's Men Roll Up 40 Points. East and McCormick Make Long Runs.

GIRLS ARE NOT PRESENT

Western university won an easy victory from the Susquehanna university yesterday afternoon at Exposition park, 40 to 0. The collegians from Selinsgrove, Pa., were about the equal of the locals in weight, but in playing strength there was such a disparity that interest in the game lagged.

W. U. P. scored two touchdowns in the first half and Edgar kicked two goals. Then, in the second session, five touchdowns were made and three goals resulted, East getting two of them.

Runs from the center of the field for touchdowns by Jimmy McCormick and Walter East toward the close of the game were the features. McCormick relieved Schmidt at halfback, and his first trial with the ball around the end resulted in the run. He had good interference and easily outran his pursuers.

East had a harder time getting his. He had to wade through the line and ward off tacklers before he got in the open, and the Susquehanna back field men chased him to the goal line. He got over, however, making one of the prettiest runs of the afternoon. Schmidt, throughout the game, elicited cheers by short dashes around the ends and by line plunges.

The Susquehanna line was as heavy as W. U. P., but it could not hold. Mosse's men charged like a machine, driving their opponents back.

Fake Kick Worked.

Susquehanna made but three first downs in the first half and a run of 30 yards by Quarterback Swank on a fake kick was the only gaining it did to any extent. The run was neatly executed and completely fooled W. U. P. Swank almost got away from the field, and had he exercised better judgment, he might have eluded Capt. Thompson, who brought him down on his own 5-yard line. After this, Swank took the count before getting into play again.

W. U. P. was penalized 15 yards for holding in the first half and in the second period Susquehanna was sent back the same distance for the same offense.

W. U. P. rushed the ball on the first kick-off down the field without relinquishing it for a touchdown, Schmidt going over by wading through the line. On this journey Perry tore around the end for 35 yards, which gave the W. U. P. students in the right field bleachers a chance to cheer.

The crowd was small, the W. U. P. students forming the largest part of it. The 200 girls from the Pennsylvania College for Women did not appear, and there was a disappointed crowd of boys, who wanted to "get a look at them," as one put it. The faculty vetoed their going, and the girls were real angry.

A note was sent by them, stating why they were not at the game, but promised they would accept the invitation for Thanksgiving, when W. U. P. will play State. Lineup:

DAN PATCH BREAKS ALL FORMER MARKS

Son of Joe Patchen Circles the Track in 1:56, Creating Record for Horse in Harness.

MAJOR DELMAR'S GREAT FEAT

MEMPHIS, Oct. 26.—With a pacemaker, carrying a wind shield in front, and accompanied by a runner at his side, Dan Patch, driven by Hersey, paced the fastest mile at the trotting park today ever made by a horse in harness, circling the track in one minute and fifty-six seconds flat. The former record, 1:56¼, was made by Dan Patch, in 1902. The wind shield used was the same as that employed when Lou Dillon trotted a mile in 1:58½. It consisted of a strip of canvas about four feet square, attached to the sulky of the running pacemaker.

Another sensational performance was that of Major Delmar, E. E. Smathers' trotting champion, when he trotted a mile to a high wheel sulky in 2:07 flat. It was announced by the judges before the trial that the sulky used is a bob-tail rig and weighed 54½ pounds. It was also explained the vehicle was the same pattern as that used by Maud S. in her memorable flight against time in 1884, when she trotted a mile in 2:08¾.

Ed. Geers Injured.

Major Delmar was driven by Alta McDonald and started off at a fast clip. He went to the quarter in 33½ seconds and without a falter passed the half mile in 1:02¾. At the three-quarter mark the timers' board showed 1:34. Turning for home, McDonald urged the horse to his best effort and the son of Delmar passed the wire in 2:07 flat, clipping 1¾ seconds off the mark set by Maud S. 20 years ago.

The day's sport was marred by an unfortunate accident. Edward Geers, the veteran driver and trainer, was exercising Joymaker, a local trotter, and on turning into the stretch at a fast clip, collided with one of several track wagons on the grounds. His sulky was tilted high in the air and Geers was thrown heavily to the ground. When assistance reached him it was found that he had sustained severe injuries, one leg being broken and the other badly injured. Geers was taken to a hospital, where tonight it is reported he is resting easy. His injuries are regarded as serious.

Driver Foote Suspended.

It was announced by the judges that W. O. Foote, driver of Ed C. had been suspended for one year for failing to win the first heat of the 2:25 pace on October 21. Summary:

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY SQUAD COMING IN FROM PRACTICE

KISKI HOLDS SHADYSIDE TO THE ORIGINAL SCHEDULE

Game Will Be Played at Saltsburg—Some Changes in Shadyside and High School Teams.

Kiskiminitas Springs school will not play Shadyside Academy in Pittsburgh this fall. Kiski will hold the East Enders to the original schedule, which calls for their annual game to take place at Saltsburg. After Kiski's decisive victory over High School Monday, Kiski was broached by Shadyside as to the advisability of transferring the game to Pittsburgh.

Capt. Harry Gordon of Kiski last night declared the game must be played on Kiski field. "We will live up to the schedule. We are going to beat Shadyside this year and we want the affair decided in the presence of our own students. Another thing I do not think it would be showing the true school spirit to transfer the game."

The Kiski team had lively signal practice yesterday, which was followed by scrimmages of 10 minutes' duration. The team is in fair shape and will have its full strength on the field Saturday, Connellsville. Capt. Gordon may be in the game Saturday.

Shadyside.

Coaches Young and Shetter sprung a surprise yesterday by making a change in the team. Capt. Arch Williams was put at quarterback, going from fullback, and Harry Patterson, quarterback, was sent to left end, which has been held down by Dick Mueller, Mueller being placed at fullback.

This change worked well in practice against the scrubs, on whom five touchdowns were scored. Alex. McCracken and Curry were kept on the halfback positions. James McCutcheon, left tackle, hurt his leg in practice Tuesday and Herron played his tackle yesterday.

Pittsburgh High School.

The High School players still felt the effects of the Kiski game yesterday. There was just enough out to form a first team and a scrub line for scrimmage work. Dunn, Woodruff, halfback, was not in the practice, nor was Pfeffer, who is ill. Fullback McAllister was not in uniform and Greer Orr was tried behind the line. Orr is about the best punter on the team and it is probable he will be worked at full for the remainder of the season on account of his kicking ability. McAllister will be moved up on the line. Page was at left half and he was used to carry the ball mostly. A shift in the schedule calls for the Allegheny High School to be played tomorrow afternoon at the Colosseum.

East Liberty Academy.

East Liberty will play the Washington and Jefferson Academy eleven this afternoon at Washington. East Liberty is rounding into form and expects to make a good showing today.

W. U. P.

The football enthusiasts of the Monongahela valley are planning an excursion to this city next Saturday to take in the Western University-California Normal game at Exposition park. Box tickets for Saturday's game and grandstand and bleacher admission tickets will be placed on sale today. The boxes will be the only reserved seats. In the grandstand and bleachers it will be a case of first come first served.

SECRET PRACTICE IS HELD ON THE YALE VARSITY FIELD

Radical Change Again Made in the Cornell Lineup—From Other Colleges.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 26.—After a secret practice period of unusual length in which the new formations were worked, the tired regulars, minus Hogan, Bloomer and Kinney, were sent in for a second half of 15 minutes against a fresh "scrub" eleven. The kicking style of play was followed to the discomfiture of the varsity. After several exchanges of punts, during which Shevlin and Neal, end rushers, showed improvement in following the ball and tackling, the ball lay on the scrubs' 30-yard line, showing a net gain of 25 yards by the exchanges in favor of the varsity.

In the first scrimmage the varsity backs dropped the ball and lost it. From that point on the scrubs hammered their way through the varsity line eighty yards by short rushes, and scored a touchdown finally on a quarterback trick. The coaches say that another hard afternoon will be given the men tomorrow, but that there will be a let-up on Friday.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—No more scrimmage for the remainder of the week was the order given the Cornell varsity squad this afternoon, but the men had no time to loaf in the hour of hard signal practice they were given. Many times, however, the coaches were obliged to scold the players for fumbling the ball.

The condition of the team as a whole does not give much encouragement for Saturday's contest. Again this afternoon additional radical changes were made. Dann was laid off on account of injuries, and Oderkirk was used in his position at left guard. Forgey was at right end. Costello, who it is now thought will at least start the Princeton game, was at right tackle and Halliday was moved to fullback in place of Cox.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Things looked up a bit with the Harvard football squad today. The varsity showed a little improvement in its offensive work, while the defense was like a stone wall. The second eleven was, however, weaker than usual and this in a measure accounted for the better showing in the line-up between the two elevens, which lasted for 40 minutes.

The varsity scored five touchdowns, four of them off long runs. Just 10 minutes was devoted to punting practice and in this the varsity scored twice, Hugh Kernan running behind a pretty interference from the varsity's 20-yard line, and Hurley a little later from the 40-yard line. Later in the scrimmage Hurley made a touchdown on a 60-yard run and another on a 25-yard run. The fifth score was made on short gains down the field, Mills taking the ball over. At the close of the practice the second eleven was given the ball to try the 'varsity defensive work on its 25-yard line, and in 10 plays the second advanced the ball but two yards.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—The Tigers are again feeling some encouragement over the results of the day's practice, as the defense, which has long been the bugbear of the coaches' dreams by night, and of their thoughts by day, showed one of its occasional spurts of strength, and in this respect some very good individual work was also noticeable. This advantage, however, was offset by a slight falling off in the offence, but no especial alarm is felt on that account as the offensive work of the season has, on the whole, been fairly uniform.

The punting was fair, but not of a kind calculated to get the ball in the other half of the field if Yale happened to object. Burke was in the game again and put lots of his old-time energy into the work. No change was made in the line and it is thought that the coaches now have the capacity of the different men pretty well sized up.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—Coach Seaman today issued the order that there was to be no fumbling by varsity players. In the regular game against the scrub the varsity was penalized five yards for every fumble, whether or not it regained the ball. The result was that the regulars held tightly to the leather. Seaman was assisted in the coaching by "Jack" Flowers of Irwin, a former star back, and Elmine Aiken of Washington, also a quarterback. They took charge of the back field.

Pittsburgh College.

Allegheny High School.

For three years James E. Morrow, principal of the High school, has been opposed to athletics. But since the advent of Dr. Herman Groth, physical instructor, athletics have been on a boom. The principal has appointed three professors—Wright, Fincke and Dr. Groth—to confer with the boys in regard to an athletic association.

West End Pool Team.

The pool players of the West End Stars have been called together for practice. J. Mulhern, who has been pitching for the Shaner baseball club, will again handle the cue, and G. Aul, the star pool player of the West End, will also be in the game, as will Harry McDavid, who has picked up considerable since last season. For games address Frank P. Dorr, 151 Steuben street.

Offer for Jack McClelland.

The Badger Athletic club of Milwaukee want Jack McClelland to meet Charley Neary at its next show on Friday night, November 11. Manager Mason will accept.

FAST FIGHT WAS CALLED A DRAW

Eddie Kennedy and Matty Matthews Put Up a Lively Battle, and Decision Was Cheered.

THE PRELIMINARY WAS WARM

When Bill Bradburn, who refereed the 10-round fistic argument between Matty Matthews of Brooklyn, the ex-welter weight champion, and Eddie Kennedy of this city decided it a draw the small crowd of fight followers who traveled down to Carnegie to witness the contest gave their approval of the decision in a cheer for the referee and then one for the fighters.

The fight lovers who were on hand and had gone down there with the expectation of seeing a lively battle were not a bit disappointed, in fact they got the best kind of a run for their money in the fighting way, and everyone went home satisfied, which is a lot more than could be said of half the alleged fights brought off hereabouts for the past two seasons. During the 10 rounds in which Matthews and Kennedy were trying to maul the life out of each other, there was not an idle moment for the fighters, or the spectators for that matter, as the majority were earnestly engaged in sending out shouts of encouragement to one principal or the other.

For the first five rounds there was about as lively a mix-up as any follower of the ring would care to see, and with the honors as near even as it was possible for the experts to judge. The third round was extremely lively and for a time it looked as though a knockout was certain. The fighters stood right up and exchanged vicious rights and lefts, and at the conclusion of the round both appeared tired. The rest between the rounds was welcomed by both. In the sixth round Matthews slipped and went down and he was helped up by Kennedy, an act which the crowd appreciated.

The fighting from the start to the finish of the contest was both fast and furious, each fighter striving for a knockout, but neither could land the decisive blow. In the tenth round science was thrown aside and each went in for the blow that would end the battle, and it was hot fighting indeed, with each administering an equal amount of punishment. The men met at catchweights and Kennedy was at his best, while to those who have seen Matthews in his best days when he held the championship, he seems to have gone back somewhat, but is still able to give a good account of himself.

The preliminary, which was between Harry Brown, the ex-amateur champion, and Dave Battlestone of Buffalo, was just as interesting as the main bout. Brown's opponent was to have been Jimmy Welsh, but he flunked out when he got a look at the gloves, claiming they were too small. The fight between Brown and Battlestone went the limit and the decision went to the ex-amateur. Battlestone, who appeared to have about 20 pounds the better of Brown, was sent to the floor for the count in the second round, but he gamely stuck to his man and managed to last the limit, even if he did look as though he had just helped in a wholesale killing at a slaughter house.

SANG RUSSIAN ANTHEM TO CONFUSE CZAR'S MEN

Novel Ruse Was Adopted by Japanese at the Storming of Tumin Pass.

WITH GEN. RENNENKAMPFF'S COLUMN BY COURIER VIA MUKDEN (UNDATED.)—The critical day of Gen. Gerngross' attack on Tumin pass was October 10. The attack began about daylight. Many batteries went into action singing the national anthem. Instead of their customary hurrah the Japanese tried to confuse the Russians by singing the Russian anthem. The Japanese once attempted to charge. They rose as one man in their trench, but dropped back under a withering fire. The fighting continued for two hours, when the Japanese received reinforcements and the Russians were forced to retire.

The slaughter was great, not only because of the rifle fire, but by reason of a peculiar hand grenade which the Japanese threw in large quantities. A high explosive caused these bombs to shatter into thousands of pieces, riddling everything in the vicinity in which they exploded.

Germany With England.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—(Special Cable.)—The course of the Anglo-Russian imbroglio today has revived the apprehensions here and it is said that as far as it can be properly done that whatever influence Germany has with Russia will be used to secure the acceptance of Great Britain's demands which, with the present knowledge of facts in the case, are considered just and reasonable.

WOMEN OF D.A.R. DEFEND THE FORT

TWO IMPORTANT COAL SUITS

Daughters of the American Revolution were very much in evidence in common pleas court No. 3 yesterday. They were there in the interests of the old block house, the order having two suits on trial before a jury, against the City of Pittsburgh as a result of the closing of Point alley and Fort street. The award of the viewers was considered inadequate by the order and all appeal was taken.

The vacation, it is contended, will deprive the old block house of means of egress and ingress to a great extent. The two thoroughfares cross on either side of the block house site and connect Penn avenue and Duquesne way.

Among those of the order present were: Miss Denny, president of the board of directors; Miss Mary McCandless, vice president of the board of directors; Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, regent; Miss Julia Morgan Harding, vice regent; Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, registrar; Miss Beulah Kennard, historian; Mrs. Dexter J. Fair and Mrs. William D. Hamilton of the board of managers.

Attorneys A. M. Imbrie and S. A. Ammon represent the daughters, and W. W. Smith the city. Considerable testimony was taken yesterday relative to the value of property at the point. The case will be resumed this morning.

Question of National Importance.

In the supreme court the cases of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company against W. C. Jutte were argued. One suit was brought to prevent Jutte from carrying on an independent business, on the ground that when he sold his coal properties to the Monongahela company he had contracted not to engage in the business for 10 years. The lower court found that Jutte had violated his contract. It issued an order restraining him so far as doing business in Pennsylvania was concerned, but refused to make it apply to other states, on the ground that it would be a violation of the interstate commerce law. The finding did not suit either party, and both entered appeals.

Another case growing out of the formation of the Monongahela company was that of the First National bank against the McKinley Coal Company, W. H. McKinley, E. H. McKinley and others, appellants. The bank alleges that the appellants received the bonds and stock given for the McKinley Coal Company and did not pay all its debts, retaining some portions of the securities. The court below ordered the McKinleys to refund and repay out of these securities so much as was necessary to pay the judgment held by the bank, with interest and costs.

The other cases argued were Machin & Brown vs. the Prudential Trust Company, appellant, an action on a mortgage; the Realty company against of Masterton vs. Horace C. Gallinger, an action on a contract for handling real estate; Samuel Suttors vs. the Isabella Furnace Company, appellant, an action growing out of a contract for the sale of land; the Greater Pittsburgh Real Estate Company vs. John D. Riley, appellant, an action over a stock subscription; M. W. Woodward vs. J. W. Crawford, appellant, and Annie M. Wescott vs. J. A. Crawford, appellant, an action over an option for the sale of land.

Samuel Porter, for use of the Porter-Miller Engineering Company, sued the Federal National bank for $500 in connection with a stock subscription. A similar suit for $1,200 was brought by Mrs. T. C. Friel against Charles L. Walther.

A bill in equity filed in the United States circuit court by Robert J. and George Beatty of Columbus, O., against the Atlas Glass Company of Washington, Pa., asks for an accounting.

Horatio H. Miller, cashier of the First National bank of Claysville, Pa., who pleaded guilty to embezzling $2,755 of the bank's funds, will be sentenced in the United States district court the first week in November. George Miller, a merchant of Morris township, Clearfield county, filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving his liabilities as $3,062 10, with no assets. James B. Hazlett of Plensantville, Venango county, gives his liabilities as $1,785 22; assets, $48.

In the equity suit of John J. Drew against the Colonial Ice Company and others, decrees were made fixing the capitalization of the company at $50,000, and fixing the allotment of stock.

Nicolai Bogdan sued Wasilis Vladitch for $2,000 damages for alleged false prosecution on a charge of illegal liquor selling.

A decree was granted in the divorce suit of Catherine Hurle against William Frank Hurle?, on the grounds of desertion.

The Pittsburgh Sick and Accident Union has entered suit against M. J. Moran for $2,000 damages, alleging that he was formerly an employe of the plaintiff and after leaving the company he made statements that injured its business.

Prosecutor Gone to Russia.

In criminal court Mrs. Fanny Hecht, wife of Adolph Hecht, a Braddock liquor dealer, was placed on trial on charge of a misdemeanor, made by Joseph Horne. The case is still on trial. It was alleged that on June 21, last, the husband saw his wife at a theater with John Sechler, who was formerly in his employ as a driver. At the husband's request, it is said, the prosecutor watched the couple and followed them after the theater was out. They were alleged to have gone to the Hotel Rivers, in Sixth street, where they engaged a room, registering as man and wife. The defense set up that the charge was brought as a conspiracy to blacken the woman's name as she sued her husband and secured an order forcing him to support her. It was said the Mrs. Hecht was never in a Pittsburgh theater and that the night of the alleged offense, she was with her sick mother in her home in Penn avenue. Joseph Horne, the prosecutor, it is alleged, is at present in Russia, a fugitive from justice.

Giuliano Saverino pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. He killed Gaetino Merino, at Bessemer, last March. He said the shooting was accidental.

The following wills have been probated: Katarina Hipsell, Pittsburgh, leaves $100 to her daughter Mary, known as Sister Ludwina and $1,000 to the Sisters of St. Francis. Four other children, John Hernin, Sr., Montooth, leaves a $2,440 estate to three children of a second wife. Casper Reith, Allegheny, leaves a $3,500 estate to his wife, Catharine. Ellen Smith Tarentum, leaves a $4,000 estate to her husband, Joseph Smith. Charles Shields, Carnegie, leaves a $2,200 estate to his sister Margaret. Katherine Fleisch, Pittsburgh, leaves a $1,050 estate to members of her family.

The following executions were issued: John S. Espy, trustee, use State bank of Pittsburgh vs. Charles D. Conner, $16,223 10; Louis Felck vs. David Duff et al., $450 80; State bank of Pittsburgh vs. Frank Metcalf, $4,763 75; Elliott Davis vs. William O'Connor et al., $382; Nicholas Alt et al. vs. Henry P. Erbe, executor, et al., $600; Frederick Mugel et al. vs. William J. Quick, $4,157 26; Continental Creamery Company vs. A. Heppner, $88 83; The Lamb Furniture Company vs. William Martin, $117 75.

Golden Wedding in McKeesport.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Taylor of Haziett street, McKeesport, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last evening at their home. They were married 50 years ago at Bravo station, the birthplace of Mrs. Taylor. For 50 years they have lived in McKeesport and are well known there. Mr. Taylor was born in Washington county in 1827 and was a riverman, serving as pilot and captain on the Monongahela river. Mrs. Taylor was born in 1834. Five children attended the celebration—Mrs. John Taylor of Allegheny, Mrs. W. S. Van Kirk of Wilkinsburg and William H., Elaine L. and Mrs. P. D. Williams, who live with their parents.

DOWN ON THE FARM AT TENTH AND PENN

Typical Rural Scene Realistically Portrayed in Windows of Big Furniture Store.

In brown October, when the scattered leaves of shivering shade trees crackle crisply under foot, the call of the country comes poignantly to the hearts of men, and mostrils long accustomed to the crowded city's heavy atmosphere, scent wistfully the far-borne breeze, elixir laden with the spice of autumn fields.

Every lover of nature will find it well worth while to go down to Tenth street and Penn avenue and see the farm scenes so realistically portrayed in Pickering's window. There to the life is the old farm just as every country-bred boy has known it at this, the most benign and bountiful season of the year, "when the frost is on the pumpkin and the corn is in the shock." There, too, busy with the affairs of his farm and apparently unconscious of the gaze of the curious crowds that gather about the windows all day long, is Old Man Geary, the presiding genius of the place, and the originator of this novel window display. And he's just as much in keeping with the rural atmosphere of the scene as one of his own pumpkins.

SOCIETY

SURROUNDED by all their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taggart celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage last evening, at their home in Arlington avenue, Allegheny. The celebration took the form of a family dinner at 8 o'clock for which the tables were arranged in the form of a letter T. The same gold-mounted china with which Mr. and Mrs. Taggart went to housekeeping was used last evening, and on the table were the candelabra used 50 years ago. The decorations were in yellow chrysanthemums and the candles had dainty yellow shades.

Before the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Taggart held an informal reception in the large drawing room where each of their six daughters has been married. Many gifts were received and all day both Mr. Taggart and his wife were kept busy receiving messages of congratulation.

Mr. Taggart, a son of John Taggart, a pioneer resident of Allegheny, was born on October 15, 1831, in the old Taggart homestead, still standing in Irwin avenue. His wife, who is five years his junior, was also born in Allegheny. She was Miss Angelina Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Knoll street, Allegheny, at whose home the wedding took place. One of Mrs. Taggart's earliest recollections is of going to the newsstands to purchase The Gazette for her father. It has been the paper read by both the Taggarts and Smiths for more than half a century. Among the things which Mr. Taggart treasures is an old scrap book in which she has kept all the newspaper clippings concerning her family. One of these is of a concert at which she was soloist, and in which she is spoken of as a "second Jennie Lind." Before her marriage she was soprano soloist in St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church in this city, and was also a member of the Philharmonic society, a well known musical organization in those days. Mr. Taggart is a retired shoe merchant, his business now being carried on by his sons. Shortly after he was married he was burgess of Duquesne borough, where he owned and operated a tannery, afterward destroyed by fire. He was later a councilman from the Second ward, Allegheny. Although their wedding was small there are 16 of the guests still living, with whom the bride and bridegroom keep in touch. One of these is Mrs. David Nye McBrier of Erie. She and Mrs. Taggart were girl friends and their marriages were solemnized near together. Their eldest sons, Nye McBrier and J. Charles B. Taggart, were born on the same day. Mr. and Mrs. Taggart's children are: Mrs. Samuel H. McKee of Wilkinsburg; Mrs. John L. Carson, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Galen Hartman of the East End; Mrs. Frank Minnemeyer, Belleview; Mrs. E. L. Jones, McKeesport; Mrs. P. Spangler, Allegheny; Charles Taggart, Chicago; George Taggart, Sewickley, and D. R. Taggart, who lives with his parents. The grandchildren are: Miss Ellen McKee, Miss Edna Jones, Miss Helen Jones, John Carson, Miss Eleanor Carson, Dale Carson, Ralph Taggart, Bradford Taggart, Miss Mary Esther Taggart, Jesse Taggart, Robert Taggart, Miss Angeline Taggart and George Taggart, Jr.

Miss Darlington's Bridesmaids Chosen.

Miss Rebecca McCullough Darlington has selected the maids who will attend her at her wedding to Louis S. Stoddard of New Haven, Conn., on Wednesday afternoon, November 9. The marriage will be solemnized in Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, the Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, bishop of Pittsburgh, officiating at 5 o'clock, assisted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Arundel. Miss Madelaine Laughlin will be the maid of honor, and Miss Darlington's three little nieces, Miss Margaret, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Helen Bennett, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bennett of Boston, Mass., will be her flower girls. The bridesmaids will include Miss Marion Chambers and Miss Virginia Bughman of this city; Miss Catherine North of New York; Miss Estelle Barbour of Detroit, and Miss Josephine McIlvaine of Philadelphia. C. F. Stoddard of New Haven will be his brother's best man, and there will be 10 ushers, the only two local men being Dallas Byers and Harry Darling-ton, Jr., the bride's brother. The other ushers will be Miss Helen Grimes, friends of Mr. Stoddard. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett are coming from Boston for the wedding, and with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darlington of Indianapolis and their four sons and Miss Barbour and Miss McIlvaine, the bridesmaids, will be entertained at the Darlington home in Irwin avenue, Allegheny, where a reception and supper will follow the church wedding. Mr. Stoddard and his best man and ushers will arrive in Pittsburgh two days before the wedding and will have apartments in the Lincoln hotel. Several entertainments have been planned for Miss Darlington. Mrs. Frederick C. Perkins will give an informal dinner for her the latter part of next week, and Mrs. Albert W. Pease of New York, will give a luncheon. Mrs. Pease is expected in the city early next week to be with her mother, Mrs. Calbraith Perry Rodgers, in Fifth avenue. Hush Inman of New York, and Miss Catherine North will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perkins over the wedding. The rehearsal will take place on Tuesday afternoon, November 8.

Bellevue Singer to Wed.

The wedding of Miss Ethelwyn Satterthwaite and George R. Rose will take place this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. R. S. George, in Bellevue. The Rev. W. A. Roulston, pastor of the Bellevue Presbyterian church, where the bride was at one time soprano soloist, will officiate. The church organist, Charles Wakefield Cadman, will play the wedding march. The bride will be given away by her brother John H. Satterthwaite of Cleveland, and her cousin, Miss Edna Brinton, will be the maid of honor, and Miss Grace MacMillan and Miss Anna May Murdock the ribbon bearers. John Wesley Anderson, a nephew of Mr. Rose, will carry the ring and J. P. Woodmansee of Rimersburg, Pa., will act as best man. The reception, at which Mrs. George and Mrs. C. L. Rose, mother of the bridegroom, will receive, will be followed by a supper. Mr. Rose and his bride will leave for the east during the evening. They will take possession of their own home in Bellevue on their return, receiving their friends after December 1. Mrs. J. M. Brinton of Ashland, Ky., and Miss Mary Brinton of Cleveland are here for the wedding.

Ansley-Aiken.

A very prettily appointed wedding yesterday at 1 o'clock was the marriage of Miss Louise L. Ansley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Ansley of Saltsburg, Pa., and Robert C. Aiken of Seattle, Wash., which took place at the home of the bride's parents in Saltsburg. About 60 guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Herbert Grimwood, pastor of the Saltsburg Baptist church. The bride was given away by her father, and the bridal train included Mrs. J. P. Archibald of Blairsville, matron of honor; Miss Effie Aiken, bridesmaid; W. H. Porter, best man, and Howard Ansley, groomsman. The bride and bridegroom left last evening to visit Mr. Aiken's parents and other relatives near this city. Later they will go to Seattle, Wash., where Mr. Aiken is in business. Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. Charles Beatty, Miss Lila McCoy, Miss Goehring, Miss Moore, Miss Corbett and Mrs. Steele of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Ewing of Wilkinsburg; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McIntyre of Edgerton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Aiken of Ingram.

In the Clubs

A Review of the Federation.

Reports of the work of the recent annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, facts gleaned in the discussions which followed able addresses, and descriptions of the people met and of the thoroughly enjoyable time the delegates had in Lancaster formed the gist of the accounts which delegates gave yesterday at the meetings of women's clubs. The New Era club met in the Central Young Women's Christian association building, and Miss Suzanne Beatty gave a very interesting picture of the strenuous life which the delegates lived through during the few days of last week. She presented her report in a different form from that usually given, making the discussions and the people who appeared in those discussions the basis of her remarks. She spoke of the discussions on child labor laws, factory inspection, the juvenile court and the problems which that work has developed, among them the disposition of the children who, it is hoped, may be reclaimed from vagrancy. She spoke of forestry and the philantropic work for the consumptives on Mt. Alto. The president, Mrs. James B. Elbier, who was also in attendance at the meeting of the federation, supplemented Miss Beatty's more general report. The appointed program for the meeting of the New Era club yesterday was presented under the direction of Dr. Anna Ramsey and included several papers by the members of the club. Mrs. Arthur Burgeype spoke of "The Irish Renaissance and William Butler Yeats;" Miss Helen Grimes discussed "Folk Stories, the Germ of the Novel;" Mrs. William H. McKenna presented "The Rise of the Romantic Drama," and Mrs. J. W. Riley spoke of "The Optimism of Humor." Several songs were sung by Miss Grimes.

Honoring a Club President.

The Woman's club of Sewickley held its first meeting of the season at the Edgeworth clubhouse yesterday afternoon. The meeting was in the nature of a president's reception. Mrs. Mansfield B. Brown, the president, and Mrs. George P. Rose, the vice president of the club, received. They were assisted by the members of the board of directors, among them being Mrs. George H. Clapp, Mrs. James Todd, Mrs. James Scott, Mrs. John B. Booth, Mrs. Arthur B. Starr, Mrs. Alfred Gibbs, Mrs. Dewitt B. Nettleton and Mrs. Wallace J. Tweer. May women were present from the Sewickley valley, Allegheny and Pittsburgh. The meeting will continue every Wednesday at the club during the winter.

Commencing Its Year's Work.

The Pittsburgh Sorosis yesterday held its first regular meeting, following the observance of president's day. The meeting was conducted in the parlors of the Hotel Schenley and the club commenced its very comprehensive study of the Russian empire, including the history, government, people, literature and art. Mrs. Henry J. Bailey was the leader for the afternoon. A large portion of the meeting was devoted to listening to the reports which Mrs. Bailey and the president, Mrs. Alfred E. Clark, gave of the ninth annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Lancaster.

Reports From Convention of Nurses.

The West Penn Nurses' Alumnas association will meet in the West Penn hospital next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Reports will be given by delegates to the convention of the Graduate Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania, which is meeting this week in Philadelphia, commencing yesterday and closing tomorrow. All graduate nurses are invited to attend the meeting next week and the members of the association are requested to, as the delegates will report whatever action has been taken regarding the drafting of the bill to be presented at the next legislature relating to the registration of trained nurses.

VIOLENT FLUCTUATIONS IN THE STOCK MARKET.

Sudden Changes from Strength to Weakness, With a Rally at the Close—Pittsburgh Industrials Heavy, but Bank Stocks Firm.

By JOHN C. EAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was very feverish. Trading was still on a large scale, the sales for the first half hour of the session averaging more than 400,000 shares an hour. Fluctuations, however, were more violent than usual, and there were sudden changes from strength to weakness. At the opening there was evidence of support, and U. S. Steel, which was looked to for an expression on the quarterly report, published after the close of the market on Tuesday, displayed so much strength that for a moment traders felt that the showing as to earnings and unfilled orders on hand, which as a whole was not up to expectations, had been fully discounted, or that the statement by Chairman Gary of the large increase in orders since the quarterly report was compiled more than offset the small total of orders on hand on the 1st inst. Steel common rallied a small fraction to 21⅛, while the preferred made a quick recovery to 82⅝. Before noon, however, there had been a break in the common to 20⅞ and in the preferred to 80⅝. The other iron and steel stocks closely followed the course of the leader, but were less active. The railroad list was strong at the opening, but had a very weak spell about 11 o'clock. Union Pacific broke from 111½ to 109, and Southern Pacific from 63½ to 69½. Pennsylvania dropped 1½ per cent to 136½, and the general list declined sharply. Ontario & Western was an exception, and was the one prominent stock which scored a new high record and which retained a considerable portion of the gain at the close.

There was no real news for this reaction, but the pretext for the selling was a report that the foreign markets had weakened on a shift in the diplomatic negotiations between Great Britain and Russia. The financial community is far from entertaining the belief that any really serious consequences will follow the North sea incident, but the rumors connected therewith will furnish the opportunity for some days to work upon the fears of the people who have been overtrading.

In the early part of the afternoon there was a strong rally all through the list. Heavy buying of Rock Island, which carried the price up to 33⅝, was a factor in this rally. Union Pacific St. Paul and Steel preferred all recovered a point or more, and less prominent issues gained large fractions. There was a falling off in the volume of speculation during the latter part of the afternoon, and the "swing" of the market was narrower. Just before the close another rally occurred, which gave the market a relatively firm tone in the final dealings. The largest net changes for the day were advances of 1⅝ for Rock Island, 1 per cent for Ontario & Western, ¾ per cent for Chicago Great Western and ⅝ per cent for Colorado Fuel & Iron. On the other hand, Southern Pacific closed at a net decline of 1⅜ per cent. Pennsylvania ⅝, St. Paul ½, Erie ⅝, and the leading industrials from ⅛ to ½ per cent.

There was a report that $3,000,000 gold had been purchased in New York for account of Germany, which according to cable advices had been alloted one-half of a Russian war loan of $270,000,000, but no actual gold engagements were made during the day, and today's European steamer will carry only $1,250,000 announced on Tuesday. This was counted as a favorable factor, and the money market remained easy and unchanged. The further decline in wheat, which closed at practically the lowest of the day, was construed as additional evidence that the European outlook was far from war-like, so far as might be judged from the grain market. On the whole, the stock market was thought to have acted extremely well, considering its previous rise, and no serious break is looked for.

The local stock market was fairly active, but the tone was heavy and at the close net declines were numerous. U. S. Steel preferred was the most active stock, and the extremes here were exactly the same as in New York. The common stock was dull, but did not sell below 20⅝, and rallied to 21 at the close. Pittsburgh Brewing was the firmest on the list, the common advancing to 26⅞ and the preferred to 46¼, but did not retain all the gain. The advance was on reports of negotiations for the acquisition of independent plants. The Crucible Steel issues were moderately active. The common declined to 6⅝, but recovered to 6¾ and closed unchanged for the day. The preferred declined to and closed at 40½. Pittsburgh Coal common declined to 16⅛ and closed at that price bid. The preferred closed unchanged at 71¼. A small lot of Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 125, a decline of 5 points from the last previous sale, but it closed at 126 bid. Westinghouse Electric was heavy and declined to 83¾, closing at the lowest. Westinghouse Air Brake rallied to 134 bid. The bank and trust company stocks were more active than for months and displayed an advancing tendency.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

As a rule the tenor of advices received by Pittsburgh houses after the close of the market from their Wall street correspondents was conservatively bullish. Considering the extent of the rise, the reaction should go further, but no one fears a break, and if the bull movement had for its object the making of a market broad enough to absorb new stock and bond issues, it is the general opinion that the powers that be will not permit the reaction to go far enough to change public sentiment. It is said that some of the professional speculators had become so bold as a result of past success that they were swinging ten times the amount of stock which they could handle with entire safety. They have "pyramided" on their profits—that is they have bought additional stocks with the paper profits accrued on original purchases—and under such conditions the market is vulnerable to attack. The west was credited with the bulk of the selling yesterday, with the possible exception of Rock Island, in which a Chicago bull pool is said to be operating.

A member of a New York bond house stopped over in Pittsburgh yesterday on his way home after an extended trip through the west and southwest. He said there was but one story to tell of the sections through which he traveled, and that related to past prosperity and a most optimistic feeling as to the future. In his opinion this feeling would have an important bearing upon the election next month.

The results of yesterday's local bank call confirmed the report in this department yesterday of the better demand for bank and trust company shares. Trading was more active than for months past and prices were firm. If this condition should continue, there is likely to be a movement for daily calls of bank stocks on the Pittsburgh exchange.

The announcement of the death of Arthur L. Davis was something of a shock to local brokers yesterday. The deceased had been for years the stock exchange representative of George B. Hill & Co., and only recently transferred his seat and retired from membership.

Discussion of the Westinghouse Electric $15,000,000 debenture issue continues in local financial circles. On the stock exchange yesterday two prominent members suggested the advisability of taking legal measures for obtaining a balance sheet of the company. The last annual meeting of stockholders was for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1897. In the east the proposed financing of the company's prospective needs apparently meets with favor. A Wall street dispatch said: "The plan for raising capital is commended by large interests. The business ahead of the company is greater than the present capacity of the plant."

"Central District and Printing Telegraph (Bell telephone) stock advanced to 126 bid for 100 shares, the highest of the year.

The street was much interested in the formal statement issued by the legal representative of the Standard Oil Company regarding the attitude of that company toward politics, business and stock market speculation. Why it should take the public into its confidence in relation to these matters, when it has never taken its own stockholders into its confidence in relation to its corporate affairs, was inexplicable. The only conclusion was that by some unaccountable oversight one of the joints in the company's armor had been left unguarded and that a stray shaft of public opinion had found entrance. In this view of the statement the action of the company is the greatest triumph ever achieved by public sentiment, because the corporation has been popularly supposed to be impervious. The street, however, was particularly interested in this sentence in the remarkable statement: Furthermore, it is entirely untrue that there is any Standard Oil party 'banded together' for speculation in stocks, as is commonly charged. The name of the Standard Oil Company is frequently used by designing persons in the manipulation of the stock market, but its use is unwarranted." The most designing person in Wall street has never been so foolish as to assert that the Standard Oil Company as a corporation, has taken part in great movements in the stock market, but when the stockholders of that corporation have received over $200,000,000 cash in dividends during the past four and a half years alone, the bulk of which went to the directorate, who own control, and when members of this directorate have become more prominently identified with some of the greatest corporations in the world, it has been surmised that the "Standard Oil crowd" sometimes found is necessary to enter the stock market for the purpose, if no other, of investing some of their surplus income.

Bond sales on the New York board yesterday for up $6,590,000, a decrease of nearly 50 per cent as compared with Tuesday.

The street rumor that the Pennsylvania railroad will make a stock issue this autumn is emphatically denied at Broad Street station. It is well understood that in 1905 the Pennsylvania railroad will have a good deal of financing to do and it is natural to suppose that what is to be done will be done thoroughly and in such manner that it will not be necessary for the company to deal with high finance for some years. It will be necessary next year to provide for the maturity of bonds to the amount of $27,000,000, to which attention has already been called. No doubt there will also be large operations in connection with undertakings in which the Pennsylvania railroad is interested, which will call for new issues of both bonds and stocks.—Philadelphia News Bureau.

United States Steel preferred will be quoted ex-dividend a week from today.

Regarding Wall street feeling on the Steel figures an Associated Press dispatch says: "It is enough to indicate the disappointment of the highly speculative element with the United States Steel report to know that reports were circulated on the stock exchange yesterday that the quarterly net earnings would amount to $23,000,000. While the $18,473,732 reported was near the expectation in more reasonable and well-informed quarters, the low figure of the unfilled orders on hand was a shock to the sanguine feeling which has grown up regarding the revival in the steel industry and the additional informal assurances given by the chairman of the board of the further expansion in orders since the turn of the quarter proved insufficient to overcome the sentiment. Selling from the steel centers and from the west was very large, both of the United States Steel stocks and the Pacific, and Pennsylvania showed the usual sympathy with United States Steel. London also sold freely here."

The last sale of a New York stock exchange seat was $81,000, the highest price this year, an advance of $1,000 over previous sale. Lowest price this year was $68,000.

There has been listed on the Philadelphia stock exchange $900,000 additional consolidated mortgage and collateral trust 5 per cent bonds.

A New York dispatch says: "More prominent financiers are now in New York than for some time past. J. D. Rockefeller is here for the first time since the early spring. William Rockefeller is here for the first time in 10 days. E. H. Harriman, Jacob Schiff, James Stillman, H. H. Rogers and J. P. Morgan are also here. George J. Gould has just returned from the west, and the Moore Bros. will arrive today."

The report that arrangements had been practically concluded for a $270,000,000 Russian loan, to be placed in Berlin and Paris, sufficiently explains the pressure from those points for gold and points conclusively to a considerable withdrawal of gold from New York. With the interior demand for currency not yet satisfied, any considerable withdrawal of gold in addition will necessarily result in higher money rates. The recognition of this fact doubtless had its influence in checking the speculative buying of stocks.

The Manufacturers bank of the South Side has declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent, payable November 1.

Sales of small lots of Pittsburgh Oil and Gas were reported at 72 to 73½.

The Pressed Steel Car Company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock.

LOCAL BANK CALL.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—On the stock exchange at the opening today the tendency was less favorable. The feeling of nervousness, however, was soon replaced by a more confident tone. Consols started weak, but closed with an improvement. Foreigners were quiet and easier. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 94¼. Home rails generally were lower, owing to the large bull account disclosed and to the fact that the traffic returns had not equalled expectations. American rails opened weak on profit-taking, grew firmer later, became less active and closed weaker. Owing to the scarcity of supplies money was in continued demand. Discounts hardened on the German demand for gold, absorbing the supplies of bars here. Consols for money, 88 3-16; consols for account, 88⅛; bar silver firm, 26 13-16d per ounce; money, 2@2½ per cent; rate of discount, short bills, 2½ per cent; three months' bills, 2⅝@2¾ per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 26.—The tone on the bourse today was heavy, the market became very feeble upon bad London advices concerning the North Sea incident and there was a general decline in prices. Internationals at the close were feeble. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 98.75 and Russian loans of 1904 at 91.50; three per cent rentes, 97 francs 92½ centimes for the account; exchange on London, 25 francs 10½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—Trading on the boerse today opened sluggish on yesterday's New York advices. Most of the securities were lower. Canadian Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio were 1 point lower. Exchange on London, 20 marks 34¼ pfgs. for checks; discount rates, short bills, 4 per cent; three months' bills, 4⅛ per cent.

Idaho Man Arrested and Search Made for His Employer at Chicago.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Charging the theft of 3,000 sheep, detectives today arrested at the stock yards Charles Hanna, while he was trying to cash a $1,200 draft.

They then began a search for William L. Wilson of Boise, Ida., said to have been the employer of Hanna, and to have been rescued by the latter at the muzzle of a revolver, from a sheriff, who had arrested him for sheep stealing.

Fourteen carloads of sheep shipped by Wilson to the stock yards are tied up by the dispatch from Boise, making the charges against Hanna and Wilson, and asking their arrest. Wilson owns a ranch near Boise, and it is charged the sheep were stolen by Hanna from a neighboring ranch and taken to his employer's land.

WALL STREET MARKET IS HIGHLY IRREGULAR

Prices Declined After an Early Advance and Closed With a Recovery.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

The stock market of yesterday was highly irregular, declining sharply after an early advance, and closing with a recovery which in most cases reduced the heavy mid-day losses for the most part to narrow fractional declines. That the market was staggered by the force of the selling movement, which has been going on for several days and which continued with full force yesterday, was self-evident, but on the other hand the absorbing power which the market showed and the force of the late recovery was a remarkable exhibition of the strength of the pool and clique operations. Whether the late rally was due more to the cessation of the heavy liquidation, or to the combined forces of manipulation, pool and clique work, short covering and a little public buying on the break, was not clear. It looked, however, more like the cessation of the heavy selling than anything else. The news of the day was not good, but then, in but few particulars was it of more unfavorable character than on several recent days. It was made up very largely of consideration given to old matters, such as the report of the Steel company's quarterly earnings, the failure of any announcement of the Ontario & Western deal, or of the Northern Securities settlement; the delay on the part of Russia in replying to Great Britain anent the North sea incident, and the like.

The very slow improvement in the iron and steel industries, as compared with Wall street's ridiculous idea that the business had all come back, was shown both in the report of the Steel Corporation and emphasized even more disagreeably in the passage of the common stock dividend of the Pressed Steel Car Company. It is highly doubtful if these features had much real influence on the selling of yesterday. That was due to the increasing desire of wise holders to convert paper profits into cash.

Measured by the extent of the decline, from the high point of yesterday to the low ebb reaction at mid-day seemed quite severe, and was no doubt so regarded by those who had bought at the top and were "topped" out. Measured by the great extent of recent advances, however, another ridiculous figure at which semi-bankrupt properties are selling, or even by the day's net changes, it was a very moderate decline indeed.

OKE SHORTAGE BECOMES MARKED

Considerable Difficulty Is Being Experienced in Supplying the Furnaces.

GENERAL STEEL TRADE NEWS

Large transactions are now being made in the pig iron market and the effect has been the lifting of prices with every prospect for further increases. The Lackawanna Steel Company is in the market for 40,000 tons of pig, it is stated, and has found a condition which was hardly expected. The coke supply has become a very serious question.

It seems that the majority of the valley furnaces trusted in the maintenance of the former prices and did not protect themselves against a possible shortage of coke. The shortage has therefore caused a flurry and a number of the furnaces are now buying their coke from several dealers in small lots in order to obtain a total equal to their needs. Spot furnace coke is quoted as high as $1 65 and it is said that this figure represents the present contract basis. For delivery next year $1 70 and $1 75 are named as prices which are generally asked. It is said that the H. C. Frick Coke Company has taken the entire output of one of the leading independent coke producers on that basis for next year.

Pig iron have reached a large total in the past two weeks. Those actually made and those coming from furnaces which will probably total in excess of 75,000 tons. Rumors are current that the Steel Corporation will shortly become a heavy buyer of pig iron and that it is the intention of that concern to hold iron prices up firmly.

Billet Prices Hold Firmly.

Quotations on Bessemer range from $12 75 to $13 00, valley furnaces, while No. 2 foundry is quoted at $13 50, furnaces. Grey forge is worth from $12 25 to $12 40, furnaces.

Billet prices are holding at $14 50, without difficulty, that figure having been accepted with far less trouble than had been anticipated by some.

The fears of a shortage of ore for independent furnaces are more in evidence than ever. The Steel Corporation is said to have brought down from the ranges a sufficient supply to care for its own needs, but the independent furnaces are not believed to have laid in a stock large enough to carry them through the winter in case the improvement in the demand for pig iron proves permanent.

The increased demand for the raw materials has not been reflected so strongly as yet in the finished lines, although there is a fair business moving in these also. Several structural contracts have been let recently, notably one for 4,000 tons to the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company for the Wabash-Pittsburg freight depot. This sheet will be made by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business continues to move along in very good shape, orders coming in freely from salesmen out on the road and the trade generally, and for good lines and large quantities. An excellent demand exists for season goods, this demand evidently being greater than for any former year, proving that consumers are needing and using home comforts, and other fall and winter goods. Nails and wire continue to move out in good volume, the trade feeling that prices are exceedingly low and that they may be higher, and keeping their stocks in good condition so that they may be ready for an expected advance when it comes. Builders' hardware, house furnishing goods and general lines are moving in good quantities. A particularly good movement is on in guns and sporting goods, sales on these lines being particularly large. There is a very good business in window glass, the demand for which is very heavy, the season being with us that the goods are actually needed and dealers are buying large quantities to put their stocks in the right shape. Prices in general lines are firm, no changes being reported recently. The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 25 per cent; Keen Kutter knives, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; shoe iron, base, No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, the ton, $27 00; window glass, L. ALL SECTIONS ENJOYED A SHARE OF THE BUYING

Pig Iron Prices in the North Advanced to Meet the Higher Figures of Southern Producers.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

Southern pig iron producers seem to have gauged the market correctly when they advanced their prices to what appeared to be prohibitory figures. The rising tide of the demand has been sufficiently strong to carry northern prices up to a parity with southern, and all sections have thus enjoyed a share of the heavy buying movement the past week. Sales are reported on the basis of $12, Birmingham, for No. 2 foundry, which two weeks ago would have been considered completely out of the question. Even this price, however, does not tempt the makers to book much business for next year's delivery. In fact, the northern, as well as the southern pig iron makers, are chary about taking contracts running far into next year, because of the outlook as to the coke and ore. It is quite certain that coke will not be procurable at the low prices ruling the past summer, and it is also asserted that the lake ore shipments this year will not allow for much expansion of production by merchant blast furnaces during the winter.

While large foundry interets have been heavy buyers of pig iron, the greatest blocks have been bought by steelmakers, particularly the manufacturers of plates, whose trade has been so decidedly improved by the numerous orders recently placed for steel cars and lake vessels. Nevertheless, the foundries have done very well in the market, and now Cincinnati reports that the cast iron pipe makers are inquiring for a very large tonnage. One machinery builder bought 20,000 tons the past week.

The improved condition of trade in finishing products is demonstrated by the quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation, whose earnings for the third quarter are much above what had been expected about July 1, and whose chairman states that the bookings now are running up to 26,000 tons a day, or over 30 per cent more than they were at the corresponding time last year.

The only branch of steel manufacture now really lagging is the rail trade, which will continue quiet until the price for next year is settled. No time has yet been fixed for a meeting of the manufacturers.

In sympathy with the course of the pig iron market, prices on old materials have shown quite and advance during the week.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay offices, today's official records show that the sub-treasury paid over yesterday $162,500. Of this amount $16,702 had been deposited at San Francisco and $96,102 at Seattle. Total thus paid since Friday $138,363, against $120,377 for the same period a week ago. Payment by government to New York banks for the day $3,049,000. Payment by banks to government $3,184,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $135,000 paid by banks to government. Total payment by banks to government since Friday $1,281,000, against $1,988,000 paid by government to banks for the corresponding period a week ago, and $2,641,000 paid by banks to government a year ago.

MARKETS AWAITING THE OPENING OF NEXT MONTH

All Lines Reported Dull—Prices Hold Firm in Groceries and Produce.

New York jobbers announced a 5-point rise in sugar Tuesday, but it has had no effect in the local markets. All grocery figures here remained the same yesterday, although a further advance in flour need not surprise any person if the wheat market stays where it is. The announcement that several of the big northwestern mills are to shut down indefinitely because of the high price of grain, has had an effect in shaking the market a little, and it shaded back again yesterday. Grain dealers do not think this drastic plan will be adopted by the millers, and think the reaction is only temporary. Flour prices have not changed and are not likely to for the present, at least.

In produce lines there is but little doing and prices are firm. The men along the street look for no improvement until after the first of next week. In the receipts of yesterday potatoes again figured heavily, there being 135 carloads in the market. Bananas showed a decided uplift in receipts yesterday, also. Twenty-one cars of this tropical fruit arrived, making 23 on hand. In all other lines the receipts were light. Grapes have become firmer and the price is advancing. They are expected to keep on the upgrade from now until the end of the season. Chestnuts are being received in great quantities, but walnuts are scarce and white walnuts, or butternuts, are not in the market. One dealer had a couple of bushels, but these were all to be found along the street.

The receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were: 5 cars, 1,000 apples; making 40; bananas 21, making 23; cabbage 3, making 417; lemons 1, making 2; onions 3, making 15; pears 1, making 11; potatoes 29, making 135; miscellaneous 4, making 17.

HAY AND GRAIN RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday in the local yards were as follows: Baltimore & Ohio, 14 cars hay, 6 cars oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 3 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car wheat; Pennsylvania lines, 25 cars hay, 10 cars oats, 1 car rye.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed yesterday were light. The inquiry continues good for strictly No. 1 timothy, but lower grades are very dull. There is much hunting for straw and the price is advancing rapidly. Oats are firm in the west, but inclined to sag locally. Shelled corn is still in great demand with the supply scarcely equal to the requirements. Receipts are light all around, but generally the demand is being met with the supply and prices are holding well. Rye moved up again yesterday and is now quoted at 91½ and 92c.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Salt Lake advices indicate that Daly West Mining Company may reduce its dividend from 40c to 20c per month. The belief is expressed that the mine can pay 25 cents per month for many years to come from the treatment of its low-grade ores.

The richest single ton of ore ever sent out from the Cripple Creek district was shipped by the El Paso Consolidated company when it consigned to the smelter a ton of ore that will go close to $75,000. This shipment alone will more than net the dividend to be paid this month. The El Paso company now has about $400,000 in its treasury reserve, and besides paying the dividend of $50,000 this month it will be able to put an additional $100,000 in the treasury, making a total of $500,000 dollars. It is expected that the net profits of the company this month at that rate will reach the sum of $150,000.

A gold ore body is said to have been discovered 20 miles west of Durango in the La Plata range of the Rocky mountains. Col. Henry C. Deming of Harrisburg, Pa., mining geologist and mineralogist, has been working in these mountains near La Plata the last two summers, and about a month ago found what might be termed a bed of ore, an unusually dark colored quartz. The mineral was found to average over $50 in gold per ton. Sides a fair quantity of copper and silver. The colonel ultimately traced the ore body for more than six miles. The bed dips at various angles and has a thickness of from 15 inches to three feet, extending into the mountain thousands of feet. At some places the ore assays over $200 to the ton in gold and silver. Some samples gives more $2,000 to the ton. The ore bodies of great value have since been discovered in proximity to the first. Already claims are being staked where the ore deposits are, and excitement is intense.

The Hecla Mining company has let a contract for the sinking of its Louise mine 25 miles west of Deadwood to a depth of 900 feet. The present depth of the shaft is 175 feet and the hoisting equipment has a capacity of 400 feet. Two and one-half feet of high-grade copper exists in the bottom of the shaft and 50,000 tons have been blocked out. The company proposes to build a smelter at Cheyenne to handle the ores.

Between three and four inches of ore that will go about $40 by the pound is said to have been opened in the thirteenth level of the Findley mine, Cripple Creek south of the shaft. The vein in which the rich ore has been found is eight feet wide and the entire mass averages $10 to the ton. The company is now breaking and shipping on an average of 60 tons of $40 ore every day and ore is showing from the surface down to the fourteenth level, the bottom still being under water.

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—The market was again broad and active, with prices practically unchanged from last night's close. The great exception was Old Dominion, which advanced 3½ points to 26, closing at the top. Both the Boston and New York markets had the appearance of being very weak but the way prices stood up showed that the buying is felt on any reaction. The majority of people here are very bullish on the situation, but most of them have sold their stocks, and would like to see a reaction in order to get in again. The feeling was that the strong metal situation will prevent any extensive break in the copper stocks and that any further rise in copper will put prices higher than they have yet been.

LONG LEASE MADE TO TARIFF CLUB

Young Republicans Have Secured Home at 408 Grant Street.

PROPERTY IS THRICE SOLD

The Young Men's Republican Tariff club has leased from James H. Park the three-story brick building at 408 Grant street, and will take possession February 1. The lease, which was made through the office of H. A. Shaffer & Co., is at the rate of $4,000 a year and runs until April 1, 1912, making it one of the longest leases signed so far this season. A few weeks ago the club proposed to buy the property, 24x120 feet, which Mr. Park held to be worth $72,000, or $3,000 a front foot. This did not seem desirable to the club and the lease was finally signed, the club agreeing to pay for all improvements. The entire building, which contains 18 rooms, will be remodeled at once and handsomely decorated. Bowling alleys will be provided on the first and second floors. The improvements will cost at least $5,000. When the Nixon theater site was bought in 1903 the club had to seek another location and took quarters at 431 Third avenue, where it is now located. Recently a large number of members have been added and the club has been trying for some time to secure more desirable quarters. There are now 485 members in good standing and it is expected this number will be increased considerably before election. W. M. Brown is president and Jerry M. Heasley secretary of the club.

Sold Property Three Times.

Owing to the frequency with which it has changed hands the sale of the property at 222 Federal street, Allegheny, announced yesterday by H. C. Mendel & Co., is of more than ordinary interest. The present buyer is Michael J. Cunningham, who secured the property from Henry Rosser for $40,000. Mr. Rosser bought the lot from R. H. Lennox for $36,500 and Mr. Lennox in turn secured it from Joseph Burk for $34,500, both of the latter deals having been made through the office of H. C. Mendel & Co. within the last 18 months, and each deal netting the seller a tidy profit. The lot is 22x100 feet and is improved with a three-story brick building, the first floor of which Mr. Cunningham now occupies as a restaurant.

The sale was reported yesterday of the R. J. Davidson holdings at 233 First avenue for $70,000. The property, 30x90 feet, is occupied by a five story brick warehouse which is tenanted by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and brings a rental of $4,000 a year. Mr. Davidson said last night that the property has not been sold. He purchased it two years ago from H. H. Willock for $50,000.

Masons Will Wait to Build.

The building of the Masonic temple at McKeesport will be postponed until January, if not longer. Some time ago a site was secured and the plans of Architect Harry S. Batey for a building to cost at least $70,000 were accepted. No bids have been taken, as some of the committee advocated waiting until after the election.

It is announced that the congregation of Trinity Episcopal church in Sixth avenue will build a new parish house to cost $50,000. The proposed building will occupy considerably more space than the present one and will be at least three stories high.

Architects Clepper & Moffitt have plans for a brick and stone apartment house in Penn avenue for G. G. Wible to cost $55,000.

The W. C. Wilkins Company is taking bids on a one-story brick boiler and engine house to be built for the Cascade Coal and Coke Company at New Castle.

James H. Hamnett will build two reception hall brick houses to cost $7,500 each on 7x120 feet which he bought yesterday from Charles B. Miller through the office of W. J. Tener & Co. for $6,700. The lot faces on the north side of Friendship avenue, between Graham and Rebecca streets, Twentieth ward.

Two Sales in Sewickley.

A three-acre plot of land, owned by Miss Nannie McDonald and situated in the waterworks road, one mile back of Osborne station, Sewickley heights, has been sold for $6,000, or $2,000 an acre. The lot is near the Minnemyer farm and the Nevin holdings and has on it a 10-room frame house.

Sewickley: Samuel W. Black & Co. sold for Mrs. Mary Miller to Christman Brothers, upholsterers, a lot with a frontage of 43 feet in Beaver street, 200 feet in Chestnut street and 43 feet in Washington street, Sewickley, for $6,000. The purchase was made for an investment.

Ingleside: Through the office of John A. Sharp, William Walker sold to R. J. Slinnings lot No. 2 in the Ingleside plan, Nineteenth ward, for $2,700. The lot faces 43 feet in Broad street.

Homewood avenue: John McDonald sold to Frank J. Steinmetz an improved lot 22.5x129 feet, on the west side of Homewood avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $5,000.

Frankstown avenue: William R. Patterson sold to John M. Straub an improved lot 43x129 feet, at the northwest corner of Frankstown avenue and Park street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $5,000.

Mellon street: Jesse P. Sharp sold to James L. and William C. George, 52x110 feet, in Mellon street, near Jackson street, Nineteenth ward, for $5,500.

Minor Real Estate Deals.

Hawkeye street: William E. Hamnett sold to William M. Brinker an improved lot 80x152 feet, on the north side of Hawkeye street, near Dunbar street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $5,500.

The William Wilkins estate sold to Edward E. McBride 50x120 feet on the east side of Braddock avenue, near Henrietta street, Twenty-second ward, for $3,000.

Excelsior street: William F. Kenney sold to William Waterman an improved lot 50x160 feet, in Excelsior street, Thirty-first ward, for $4,000.

Claire street: H. W. Hoffman sold to Benjamin R. Marshall an improved lot 26x110 feet, in Claire street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $2,880.

Lawndale street: Mrs. Mary Scrive sold to Edward P. Keary an improved lot 25x100 feet, in Lawndale street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $2,200.

The C. A. Nuzum property, 205 Stratford avenue, Twentieth ward, has been sold to George T. Ghriest for $12,000. Mr. Ghriest will occupy the property after April 1.

The following building permits were issued yesterday: S. W. Steel, store and dwelling, Homewood avenue and Formosa alley, Twenty-first ward, $10,000; F. J. Thompson, brick veneered dwelling, 7037 Bennett street, Twenty-first ward, $4,000; Mrs. Minnie Korn, brick dwelling, Cabinet and Corson streets, Sixteenth ward, $4,000; Mary C. AMERICAN PEOPLE ARE SATISFIED

Secretary Hay Tells Why Campaign Is One of the Quietest Ever Known.

GREAT MEETING IN NEW YORK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The crowd at the Republican mass meeting in Carnegie hall tonight was so large that the doors were locked at 7:30 o'clock. At that time all the available space within the hall was filled and several thousand persons were crowded about the entrances seeking admittance.

John Hay, secretary of state, who made the first speech, was given an ovation when he appeared. The band played and flags waved in every part of the house, while the audience cheered.

Senator Elsberg referred to President Roosevelt as "the most inspiring leader who ever led a great party to victory." The audience rose as one man when he characterized the president as "a man whom all admire and love."

Secretary Hay was introduced as "one of the greatest living Americans and the foremost diplomat in all the world, a man whose name in every cabinet in the world is synonymous with honesty and fair dealing." He said in part:

This campaign will be memorable in our annals as one of the quietest ever known. Why is it that the American people are possessing their souls in such repose?

There is, I venture to say, no explanation of this state of feeling, except that the people of this country have made up their minds that there is to be for the present no change in the principles and policies that have proved so successful in the last eight years. They had resolved definitely and clearly in 1896 that their temporary aberration from the policy which as long ago as the time of Henry Clay was called the American system had not resulted favorably. They intrusted William McKinley with the task of bringing the country back to its old bearings, of restoring the well-tried ways of the national housekeeping. He showed himself worthy of their confidence. In four years the country made great progress along its regular old-fashioned lines of healthy development, and in 1900 when he gave an account of his stewardship the people approved it and renewed his term of office.

An unspeakable crime snatched him away from his glorious task and our loving confidence. In the classic myth when the golden bough was torn away another immediately appeared in its place. Theodore Roosevelt took up the burden our beloved chief laid down, and with incomparable courage and strength has carried it on. With the work of both these faithful servants the American people are satisfied. Believing and intending that the work shall go on in the hands and under the guidance which has been found so efficient, they are not wasting so much time as usual from their private affairs to show an interest which is too universal to need much advertising.

P. R. R. IS TO BUILD NEW STATION AT ASPINWALL

The cost of the construction of the Brilliant cut-off is only a forerunner of what the Pennsylvania railroad intends to invest in improvements in this territory. This end of the Pittsburgh division is to undergo many changes, among them the re-establishing of several stations and building new ones at different points. It has been officially announced that bids have been invited for the erection of a new passenger station at Aspinwall, on the Brilliant cut-off. This indicates that the prediction made in this column is coming true—that the cut-off is to be made a part of the main line, and in course of time through trains will not be run into the Union station. The plans of the company are said to call for the erection of a large passenger station in the East End, and the present Union station will be used exclusively for general office purposes and accommodation trains. The plans for the Aspinwall station have not been made public, but the company will not disgrace the cut-off, after spending so much money for its construction, with a cheap building. The Pennsylvania railroad directors met yesterday in Philadelphia and the plans for improvements in this district were lengthily discussed. Next Tuesday the directors will meet again to take action on the semi-annual dividend, which, so far as known, will be the usual 3 per cent. The directors of the Pennsylvania lines will meet November 9.

Served B. & O. 25 Years.

S. T. Hutchinson, depot ticket agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, yesterday rounded out his twenty-fifth year with the company. He entered the Baltimore & Ohio service 25 years ago as advertising agent. Two years later he was made traveling passenger agent. This position he filled until June, 1888, when he was appointed depot ticket agent, which position he now fills in the Water street station. To celebrate the event a number of local railroad officials called at his home, Oneida street. During the evening Assistant Ticket Agent G. S. Willis made a speech congratulating Mr. Hutchinson upon his splendid record with the Baltimore & Ohio, and closed by presenting him, on behalf of those present, a traveling clock. The clock is set in a morocco case. It is so made that it can be placed in a suit case. The present was a valuable one and Mr. Hutchinson, in receiving the gift, responded with a few impressive words. Among those present were B. W. Duer, superintendent; Robert Finney, general agent; T. J. Walters, city freight agent; J. A. Hazleton, chief clerk to General Superintendent W. C. Lowe; H. R. Hamlin, assistant train master; E. D. Smith, assistant general passenger agent; M. B. Walker, assistant city passenger agent; George Orr, traveling passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Western division; W. F. Miller, chief clerk to E. D. Smith; George Sullivan, private secretary to W. C. Lowe; George F. Sellers, assistant to Mr. Hutchinson; R. B. Dribble, chief clerk to Robert Finney; L. P. Brockenbrough, general freight agent; Thomas Walters, freight agent; F. H. Tiffetam, assistant general passenger agent of the Wabash; Charles Hamilton, city passenger agent of the Wabash; F. Salisbury, general agent for the Canadian Pacific; S. Meyers, traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific; C. Travers, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago & Northwestern, and C. W. Ball, a conductor.

Hustling on New Equipment.

Orders have been issued by the Pennsylvania railroad officials to hurry the construction of the new engines for which orders were placed a few weeks ago. These rush orders affect all the shops on the system where new equipment is being turned out, and old locomotives are being put in shape for the winter work. The occasion for the unexpected rush is an increase in the freight traffic and a consequent demand for more cars and engines. While the officials do not fear a lockade or any serious difficulty in handling the traffic, they are preparing for a continuation of a heavy freight movement during the winter months. The Pennsylvania hopes by November 15 to have enough engines on hand to keep the traffic movement in good shape during the winter.

Vandalia Receivership Dissolved.

After several years of litigation, the Pennsylvania lines west will formally assume control of the Vandalia system January 1. Judge Francis Baker of the United States circuit court at Indianapolis has handed down an order dissolving the receivership, effective November 1. A meeting of the stockholders will be held December 15, at which the merger deed will be ratified. The Terre Haute & Peoria division will continue to be operated by the Pennsylvania under lease.

Hurrying the "L" Road Work.

The Pennsylvania railroad contemplates beginning work on the Duquesne way elevated line December 15. By this time the company expects the masonry will be finished. Notwithstanding the suits pending, the company is pushing the work with all possible speed. All the material for the roadbed is under construction and will be delivered to the company within the next few weeks.

To Continue Fast Trains.

As stated in this column several days ago, the Pennsylvania railroad will continue some of the trains put into service on account of the world's fair. The St. Louis limited, which leaves here at 9 p. m., and the St. Louis express, leaving here at 2 p. m., will be continued.

Railroad Notes.

The ninth annual report of the Erie railroad system shows earnings for the year of $45,201,183 28.

The Pennsylvania railroad is preparing plans for a tunnel at Sixth street and an overhead bridge at Thirteenth street, Braddock.

The annual inspection of the West Penn will take place today. Superintendent R. T. Morrow will have charge of the party.

The Pittsburgh Railway club will meet tomorrow night at the Monongahela house and elect officers and transact other business.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and the Baltimore & Ohio will jointly build a bridge over the tracks of the two companies at Hazleton, to abolish the grade crossing.

Russian Warship Disabled.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The trawler Princess Victoria arrived at Aberdeen today. She reports passing a disabled Russian warship during the night of October 21-22, about 40 miles from the place the Hull trawlers were fired on.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

RICH OR POOR—YOU NEED TEETH

No one, old enough to know better, should be neglectful of that most vital and useful organ of the human system—the teeth—the very guards to the gateway of health.

SOZODONT TOOTH POWDER

should be found on the toilet table of every one, be he rich or poor. It will not tarnish gold work nor scratch the enamel. A perfect dentifrice—the one for you.

Development Work Shows a Marked Falling Off

Development work in the deep sand districts in West Virginia begins to show a rather marked decline and the volume of new production from that source promises to be smaller than for any month within the past year. The wells that were once in the class of producers rated at 100 barrels a day or more have disappeared and the number that now show a daily gauge of 100 barrels or better has dwindled down to fewer than a dozen and a half. There is now but one district under development that holds out any promise of presenting anything better than small wells. This is the new district recently opened west of Mannington, in Marion county. From the way the Delmar Oil Company's No. 1 on the Hays farm is holding up it is not expecting too much to hope for more good wells in that locality. The gauge of the Hays well for the 24 hours last reported was 340 barrels.

In the Wick district, Tyler county, Porter, Livingston & Co. have completed their No. 9 on the W. F. McKnight farm and have a show for an eight or ten-barrel pumper in the Cow Runsand. In the same district, Heckathorn, Cunningham & Co. have drilled their No. 4 on the M. M. Wells farm and have a duster in the same formation.

On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Jessie Ashcraft farm 10 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 2,500 feet with fluid. In the same district, the same company's No. 8 on the M. P. Dye farm has been drilled 41 feet into the strav and has developed no oil or gas.

In the Smithfield distrint, Tyler county, Greenlee & Co. have drilled their No. 4 on the Prichard-Fleming farm 95 feet into the Big Injun and have a show of oil. In the Pine Grove extension the South Penn company has drilled its No. 5 on the R. J. Postalwait farm into the stray and has 100 feet of fluid in the hole. Southwest of Mannington the same company has drilled its No. 6 on the B. F. Conway farm deeper into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 500 feet with fluid. On the left fork of Proctor creek, in Proctor district, Wetzel county, the Tri-State Gas Company has completed its test on the Jerry Yobo farm and has a light gas show in the Gordon. This company, the Wheeling and the Hope Natural Gas Company are drilling eight or ten wells in that locality.

In the Raya run district, on the Ohio side in Washington county, the Associated Producers Company has drilled its second test on the M. Pool farm through the Big Injun and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the Dow Run district, in the same county, the Boston Oil Company has completed its No. 14 on the J. D. Lehmer farm and has a 25-barrel producer. In the Chester Hill district, Morgan county, the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the Joseph Yarnell farm and will not have better than a three-barrel pumper in the shallow sand. In the McIntyre creek field, in Jefferson county, the Spruens Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the W. W. and T. D. Spruens farm through the Berea grit and have a duster.

In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, the Davistown Gas Company has completed its test on the Clark Furman farm a has a small gasser.
